

Discontent Grows In 2 States Over Schools' Closing

Legislators And Students Voice Concern

By The Associated Press

Discontent over school closure policies broke out in integration - troubled Arkansas and Virginia at the end of the first week of idleness for thousands of pupils who normally would have been attending classes.

In Virginia, two Democratic assemblymen expressed concern over the state's policy of resistance which already has closed three schools. The opening dates of six white secondary schools in Norfolk were postponed until Sept. 29 and local groups were making plans for private schooling at Charlottesville.

Student Opinion

At Little Rock, Ark., 65 students enrolled at Hall High school adopted a resolution yesterday asking that their school be reopened even if qualified Negro students are admitted.

Hall High originally had 731 students but School Supt. Virgil Blossom said 130 of them had transferred out and presumably would attend school elsewhere. He said 80 students had transferred from Central High and none from Tech High or Horace Mann.

David Johnson, a student council leader, had this to say about the resolution adopted by the 65 Hall High students: "Nobody has asked the students how they feel so we're telling them."

Another member of the student council, Christ Barrier, said he believed most of the 65 did not favor integration "but we have been advised that this is the only way the school can be opened legally."

May Resist Transfer

The resolution was called to Faubus' attention last night while he was on his way to Lexington, Ky., to attend a meeting today of the southern governors conference.

Faubus said that "65 out of 4,000 students doesn't seem like very many to me."

His reference to 4,000 was to the enrollment of almost that number in Little Rock's four high schools before the transfers started.

He declined to comment on a report that he was studying the possibility of reopening Horace Mann for Negroes as an integrated school.

Workman Killed in Asphalt Tank Blast

Eau Claire — (A) — Harold Zackett, 35, of rural Augusta, was killed, but a fellow worker escaped injury Friday in the explosion of an asphalt-heating tank at a construction company yards.

James Earl, knocked down by the blast, said the explosion occurred as Zackett was using a blowtorch to light the tank, fueled by bottled gas.

General Motors Announces New Contract Offer

Detroit — (A) — General Motors, object of Sept. 30 strike deadline by the United Auto Workers, today offered the UAW a new 3-year proposal which it said contained 19 specific improvements.

The UAW, which last night announced it will also strike Chrysler if no contract agreement is reached soon, got the new contract offer from GM as negotiations resumed today.

GM said the new contract would be effective as of Sept. 1 and would carry three annual pay increases totaling at least 21 cents per hour during the life of the contract. The first increase would be effective as of last July 1.

GM also proposed an additional 8 cents an hour for skilled trade workers and an increase of 3 cents an hour in cost-of-living allowances to compensate for cost-of-living increases during the last 4 months that GM workers have

Morocco, Tunisia Recognize Algeria

Action Adds to Problems Of De Gaulle's Government

BY JOHN RODERICK

Paris — (A) — The French colonies of Morocco and Tunisia put Premier De Gaulle's government into a diplomatic quandary today by backing the new Algerian rebel government in its war against France.

The two newly independent nations flanking France's big North African territory defied the French warning that any country recognizing the exiled republic of Algeria would be committing an unfriendly act.

If De Gaulle follows up the warning by breaking diplomatic relations with Tunisia and Morocco, he will eliminate them as possible intermediaries in any future peace talks to end the 4-year-old Algerian fight for independence.

The provisional Algerian government assured U.A.R. President Nasser today of its support for a policy of strong Arab solidarity.

Premier Ferhat Abbas and Culture Minister Tewfik Madani drove to the United Arab Republic presidential palace and inscribed the following in the official guest book:

"The provisional Algerian government considers as its first duty after formation and recognition that it should present its heartfelt thanks and reaffirm brotherly true feelings and strong Arab solidarity to President Gamal Abdel Nasser and affirms the Algerian peoples gratitude."

Could Help Russia

France has refused to now to negotiate with rebel leaders, although President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia has always hoped to bring the two sides together for a peaceful settlement.

Bourguiba reportedly opposed the establishment of a rebel government because it would lessen the chance of talks but he had to go along with recognition to avoid dangerous criticism.

A break with France also could force Tunisia and Morocco to seek support and financial aid elsewhere—possibly President Nasser's United Arab Republic or even the Soviet bloc. France still has some troops in Tunisia and Morocco and contributes to their economies.

Nasser was the first to recognize the Algerian government after it was proclaimed yesterday in Cairo. The new republic of Iraq, the kingdom of Libya and Yemen followed within hours.

GOP Scolded By Truman

Raps Republicans On Many Subjects In Baltimore Talk

Baltimore — (A) — Harry S. Truman criticized, chided and ridiculed the Republican administration last night on subjects ranging from the Formosa crisis to the removal of his picture from the White House wall.

A bit weary after several days of vigorous stumping on behalf of Democratic candidates in the Nov. 4 elections, the 73-year-old former president attracted 2,010 to a party fund raising dinner at near-Pikesville.

The Republicans "tried to discount and discredit everything" he had done while in office, Truman told the $100-a-plate audience, biggest ever to attend a Maryland political dinner.

This backfired, he said, citing the present Far East program as an example.

"They ordered the Seventh fleet out of the Formosa straits," he said. "They were going to unleash Chiang Kai-shek and let him go take the China mainland. But then they had to move the fleet right back in again."

Truman said the Republicans had criticized his administration for budget deficits but now face a probable deficit of more than $12 billion themselves. At the same time, he added, their fiscal policies have increased both unemployment and inflation, a situation he never heard of before.

More Supplies Go to Quemoy

Adm. Felt Reports Progress as Convoy Eludes Blockade

Taipei — (A) — The top U. S. commander in the Pacific said today considerable progress had been made in getting supplies to Quemoy during the last two weeks. As he spoke, the nationalists announced another supply convoy had cracked the communist blockade.

Adm. Harry D. Felt flew in for conferences with national Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek at the start of the fifth week of the Formosa strait crisis. Felt described the situation as serious but said "I am not discouraged."

Asked whether the United States had sufficient forces in the Pacific to deal with any situation, he replied, "the forces are very, very strong and quite adequate."

Silent on Buildup

Felt declined to comment on whether the American military buildup on Formosa would continue.

The nationalist defense ministry did not say how many cargo ships reached Quemoy today or how much cargo they discharged.

The communist shore batteries poured in 1,034 shells while the ships were at the beach, but the nationalists said they withdrew safely.

Aga Khan Resumes Studies at Harvard

Cambridge, Mass. — (A) — The Aga Khan, spiritual leader of some 20 million Moslems, has resumed his studies at Harvard, majoring in Oriental history.

Newark, N. J. — (A) — A 9-year-old girl was found lying in the street last night, burned, beaten, teeth knocked out and her hair cut.

Police said a 14-year-old boy today confessed beating the girl with a rock but denied burning her. His name was not announced since he is a juvenile.

Condition Serious

The girl, Theresa McHugh, was in serious condition at Martland Medical center. A physician there said she either had been set afire or held over a roaring blaze.

She returned from school yesterday, finished her homework and went out to play in a park. A passerby found her on a nearby street last night.

UN Debate Due on Formosa Problem

United Nations, N.Y. — (A) — A general assembly debate of the Formosa crisis loomed today despite a preliminary U. S. victory in shelving a wrangle over U.N. membership for red China.

The debate could develop next week when backers of a move to seat the Chinese communists are certain to try to overturn the American victory in the steering committee.

The committee voted 12-7 yesterday for a U.S. resolution that this assembly session reject any proposals on Chinese membership. Nationalist China now holds a U.N. seat.

The United States opposes an assembly debate on seating, which probably would involve discussion of the vest pocket war in the Formosa strait. U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge may propose separate discussion of the Formosa crisis.

Sessions in Warsaw

This would happen, informants believe, if the current Warsaw talks fail to produce concrete results. The U. S. and red Chinese ambassadors in Warsaw, Jacob Beam and Wang Ping-nan, are scheduled to meet again Monday on terms for a cease-fire in the strait.

Secretary of State Dulles told the assembly Thursday the first move toward peace should be a cease-fire. If that fails, he said, the United States reserved the right to 24 hours, perhaps even longer, before the U.N.

U.S. officials have been reported confident that if red China would agree to a cease-fire, the nationalists could be persuaded to go along.

Hopes of such agreement have been dampened, however,

Woman Slain At La Crosse

Police Seeking Her Grand-Nephew For Questioning

La Crosse — (A) — The 50-year-old aunt of an alderman was beaten to death with a clawhammer in her apartment Friday night. Police say they are looking for her grand-nephew for questioning.

The victim, Mrs. Josephine Grybczynski, was found lying face down on two blood-smeared pillows on the kitchen floor. The hammer was nearby.

Mrs. Grybczynski shared the downtown quarters with her nephew, Ald. John Marasek, and his son, Jackie, 16. The apartment is located above a tavern the woman and Marasek operated until a week ago when they sold out.

Police Chief George Long said the boy, a slightly built lad, has been missing since Friday night.

Not at Camp

Young Marasek at first was believed to have gone on a camping trip with his Boy Scout troop, but there was no trace of him at the camp.

Long said robbery apparently was not the motive for the slaying because nothing was missing from the apartment. He said there was money in Mrs. Grybczynski's wallet and some loose change. Nothing was disturbed in the apartment.

According to Long, the body was discovered by the elder Marasek and a neighbor, John Saley, 33. The two men worked together in the basement of a building from about 5:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. when they went upstairs and found the body.

Coroner Dr. Michael Watunya said the woman had been dead 24 to 36 hours when the men found her.

Long quoted the elder Marasek as saying his aunt called down to him about 6 p.m. asking if he and Saley wanted something to eat.

Told they planned to keep working until they finished, the aunt said she and Jackie would eat without them.

Critically Wounded In Hunting Accident

Prairie du Chien — (A) — A 12-year-old boy who underwent surgery after he was wounded in a hunting accident was reported in critical condition Friday.

Richard Fish, of Eastman, was wounded Thursday evening when a rifle held by a companion discharged and the bullet struck the boy in the abdomen.

The boy was hunting with Gene Schellinger, 20, of Wauzeka, who told authorities the weapon discharged as he unloaded it.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fish.

Russian Says U. S. Facing 'Expulsion'

Washington — (A) — President Eisenhower is expected to reject promptly and firmly Premier Khrushchev's tough warning that the United States must abandon Formosa or face "expulsion" by communist China.

In a new letter to Eisenhower yesterday, the Soviet premier spurned a presidential bid to use his influence with the Chinese communists to end the present Far Eastern crisis.

Khrushchev said Formosa belongs to red China. If the United States does not abandon nationalist China and pull out American forces, he said, "no other way will be left to people's (red) China except expulsion of armed forces hostile to it from its own territory."

The Khrushchev letter, handed to Richard Davis, ranking U. S. diplomat now in Moscow, replied to a letter from Eisenhower Sept. 12.

In that letter Eisenhower told Khrushchev that if he was really interested in working for peace he would use his influence to get the Chinese to stop aggressive acts in the Formosa area.

Moscow Broadcast

The 13-page Khrushchev letter was translated at the U. S. embassy in Moscow before being transmitted here. A summary was broadcast by the Moscow radio even before the state department had time to notify Eisenhower, vacationing at Newport, R. I., that a new message was on the way.

Officials noted privately that the United States has long been committed to the defense of Formosa against communist attack and is supporting the Chinese nationalists to some degree in their present efforts to stand firm on Quemoy. The United States has no intention of abandoning Formosa under threat from Moscow, these officials said.

Western diplomats in the Soviet capital said they did not consider Khrushchev's letter an ultimatum, but rather a strongly worded reply to match the tone of Eisenhower's note of Sept. 12. In that note, Eisenhower put full blame for the current crisis on the Chinese Reds.

No Word on Others

In addition to the Formosa letter, Davis also received a note from the Soviet foreign office advising that Russia would turn over to U. S. authorities the bodies of six Americans. These bodies were found in the wreckage of a U. S. air force C130 transport which crashed on Russian soil near the Turkish border on Sept. 2.

State department officials said the new note gave no information about the fate of 11 other airmen who were aboard the plane. The note denied that the aircraft was intercepted by Soviet planes.

Takes Tough Tone

In general, the Khrushchev letter on the Formosa situation was characterized here as covering familiar Soviet policy in support of red China.

It was considered notable mainly for its tough tone and the specific warning that if the United States did not withdraw its forces from the Formosa area it risked "expulsion" by red China.

The main immediate effect seemed to be to harden the deadlock between the United States and the communist bloc over the Formosa issue.

"We stand fully by the side of the Chinese people's government and the Chinese people," Khrushchev said. "We have always supported their policy and shall continue to do so in the future."

He said neither red China nor the Soviet Union would be intimidated by what he called "nuclear blackmail."

And he said red China would never accept "the severance of its very own territory" nor the concentration of U. S. armed forces in the Formosa area. "Interference in the internal affairs of China must be brought to an end once and for all," Khrushchev said.

New Jersey Girl of 9 Beaten and Burned; 14-Year-Old Boy Arrested

Newark, N. J. — (A) — A 9-year-old girl was found lying in the street last night, burned, beaten, teeth knocked out and her hair cut.

Police said a 14-year-old boy today confessed beating the girl with a rock but denied burning her. His name was not announced since he is a juvenile.

the hospital suffering burns of the back, chest, arms and head. She also had a deep gash over the left eye and bruises of the left face. Several teeth had been knocked out and most of the others loosened.

Police said the 14-year-old boy, a resident of the same apartment development, broke down after three hours of questioning, admitted hitting her with a rock, but sobbed repeatedly: "I don't know why, I don't know why."

He told police he met the girl outside the apartment building, accompanied her into the park, watched her light a cigaret and then attacked her, leaving her on the ground.

One of the girl's shoes was found beside a pool of blood in the park. A piece of burnt clothing, believed to be her blouse, was 100 feet further on.

10 Questioned

The boy was among 10 juveniles rounded up in the area after a superintendent told police the apartments had been the scene of several fights and vandalism recently.

The medical center said there was no evidence of a sexual attack.

Theresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McHugh, Jr., who have lived for three years in the Ivy Hill apartments, a large middle-income development. Her father is an auditor for the New Jersey Blue Cross plan.

Openings Still Reported in Adult Classes

Registrations to Be Extended Until Start of Courses

Kaukauna — Registrations are still open in several classes to be offered for adults at the Kaukauna Vocational school and persons wishing to enroll are asked to call the school office next week.

Classes will start the last week in September. There are openings in all shop classes and general adult classes. Additional registrations will also be accepted for commercial classes since any number of students can be handled in this class.

Clothing II or sewing for children has a few openings. The class will meet Monday evenings and women will be able to make winter clothing for children while attending class. Clothing III or sewing for teens which will be held Tuesday afternoons also has a few openings.

Openings exist in all food classes and many are needed to round out the calorie counting class. This class will deal with weight control, proper diets, preparation of foods and how to prepare special diets for bedridden, diabetics or others. Other homemaking classes where openings exist are millinery and accessories, home nursing, metalcraft, upholstery, fur restyling, lamps and draperies, jewelry and gem cutting, slip covering, rug hooking and braiding and textile painting.

PROGRESS

We at the Winnebago Natural Gas Corporation, Kaukauna's newest industry, are proud to salute Thilmany Pulp and Paper company on its 75th anniversary.

The steady growth and progress as evidenced by the investments in new machines and the recent installation of natural gas has made Thilmany one of Wisconsin's leading paper manufacturers. This growth has been a guiding light to other industries here.

From a small beginning in 1883 when only eight men were employed, it has grown to over 1,500 employees with an annual payroll over $7,000,000. This growth has contributed in large measure to the wealth and prosperity of the community.

The Lutheran Pioneers will meet at 6:30 Monday evening and this will be the final chance for members to register for the junior Red Cross first aid training program that will be started, Pastor Haberman announced.

"You and the Church," will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Albert Kuhn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church for Sunday worship.

Services will be at 10:30 in the morning and Sunday school instruction will be at 9:30.

KHS Distance Runners Down Two Rivers

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school distance runners opened the home season successfully here Friday afternoon, taking a 361 to 231 win over Two Rivers on the Fox Valley Golf club course.

The first three men across the finish line all finished in times which bettered the previous record for the course. Allan DeRusha of Two Rivers finished first in 10 minutes, 49 seconds while second place went to Bruce Vanevenhoven of Kaukauna in 11 minutes, 25 seconds. Ed Vanden Heuvel of Kaukauna was one second slower than his running mate.

Jerry Jakl, Kaukauna, and Dennis Payette of Two Rivers tied for fourth and fifth place. Sixth place went to Ronald Busse of Kaukauna and seventh was won by Bruce Lawrence of Two Rivers.

The first 13 men to cross the finish line figured in the standings. Kaukauna placed eight men in the top scoring unit.

Other locals scoring points were Harry Gast, Merle Hammond, Roger Nussbaum, and Milo Strauss. Two Rivers runners finishing were Tom O'Hearn and Tom Lawrence.

St. John Sodalists to Receive Communion

Little Chute — The Blessed Virgin sodality of St. John High school will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 mass Sunday morning at the parish church.

Other masses are scheduled for 5 o'clock, 6:10, 9 o'clock, 10:30 and 12 o'clock noon. The high mass will be at 10:30.

Regular Schedule for Masses at St. Paul

Combined Locks — The regular schedule of masses will be followed Sunday morning at St. Paul's Catholic church, according to the Rev. John DeWild, pastor.

Masses will be said at 7 o'clock, 9 o'clock and 10:30 in the morning. Confessions will be heard this evening from 7 to 8 o'clock.

70th Anniversary

The $200,000 building highlights the 70th anniversary celebration of the Christus congregation which will be noted at a special service Tuesday evening. The Rev. Emil Stubenvoll of Bloomer, son of the Christus pastor, will officiate.

The week will also mark the observance of 45 years in the ministry for the Rev. Mr. Stubenvoll, who has been pastor of the Christus congregation for the last 38 years.

The parish hall was constructed primarily for promoting the educational program of the church, although ample facilities have been provided to carry on the many other activities of the church and its various organizations.

Herman Gagnow Rolls 243-612 to Lead Major Loop

New London — Herman Gagnow paced the Major Bowling league Thursday night at Van's alleys with a big 243-612 for Ebert's Bar as the team lost a pair of lines to McDermott's Bar, which was topped by Arnie Zitske's 211-single and Art Gottschalk's 203.

Louis Stern rolled a 202-single for Brown Brothers as the team won two lines from Kamke's Skell Gas and Marshall Stern hit a 204 for Van's Alleys as the team won two lines from Sport-O-Lectric.

Franklin House, behind Harold Ladwig's 214-554, John Restle's 586 series, Melvin Glocke's 202-555 and Len Hoffman's 210-585, won two and tied the third game with Miller's Restaurant, which was topped by Bob Elsholtz' 211-single.

Lawrence Magalska topped the Edison league with a 211-544 for First Floor as the team lost three lines to Veneer Department, which was led by Henry Dietz' 200-single. Ken Elsholtz added a 202-single for First Floor. Irvin Huntley rolled a 201-single for Maintenance as the team won two lines from Production Office.

Paint Shop, behind Harold Huntley's 204-single, won a 3-liner from Office.

Waupaca — School board members and their families will meet Monday evening at the grade school multi-purpose room for a potluck supper with the faculty and families.

Clintonville Birth

Clintonville — Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Krueger, route 2, Clintonville, are the parents of a daughter born Friday at Clintonville Community hospital.

To Place A Want-Ad Dial 3-4411

Mrs. Eugene Dexter, 71 Hughes street, Clintonville, recently completed the portrait sculpture, left, of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy. She is shown, above, with some of her other completed sculpture work which includes a pair of wrestlers, dogs, a cat carrying a kitten and a classic head. The classic head received an honorable mention at the Wisconsin State fair last year.

Clintonville Sculptor Forms Bust of McCarthy

Clintonville — Interest in the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy led to a portrait sculpture of him by Mrs. Eugene Dexter, 71 Hughes street.

She began work on it approximately a year ago and worked on it at intervals. Mrs. Dexter used various photographs of McCarthy, many of which were furnished her by the Appleton Post-Crescent, to guide her. She never knew him personally.

This summer Mrs. Roman Kornely of Appleton, a sister to the late senator, called on Mrs. Dexter to view the bust and make helpful suggestions, she said.

4-Year-Old Hobby Doing sculpturing and ceramic work is a hobby for Mrs. Dexter, one which she began about four years ago by attending a night school course offered at the public school.

Several years ago she entered a contest sponsored by a soap company and won a $50 cash prize for her sculpture in soap of a man, woman and child which she called "Family."

Among the many completed items that Mrs. Dexter has now are sets of mugs, bells, ash trays, a pair of wrestlers, dogs, a cat carrying a kitten in its mouth, and bowls. Last year a classic head she entered at the Wisconsin State fair received an honorable mention.

Has Kiln The medium used are plaster, clay and soap. Mrs. Dexter has a kiln in her basement for firing small objects. At night school, she also worked with a potter's wheel.

Mrs. Dexter, with several other Clintonville persons, took a course of six lessons in Milwaukee for instructions in styles of painting on ceramics.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter have four children, Jean, a senior, and David, a sophomore, both in high school; Jane, who is in the fourth grade, and Joe, who will be 4 years old in November.

Mrs. Dexter is the former Hope Stubenvoll, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. E. C. F. Stubenvoll of Clintonville.

VFW Plan Poppy Sale

Auxiliary of New London Post Sets Friday Drive

New London — The auxiliary to the Learnman-Schaller post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor its annual Buddy Poppy drive Friday by selling poppies in the business district.

The drive exemplifies the V.F.W. pledge to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living." Poppy sales have been held for 37 years and to fulfill that pledge, the V.F.W. national home was established at Eaton Rapids, Mich., for orphans of veterans. One cent from the sale of every Buddy Poppy sold goes toward the maintenance of the home.

The Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans in Veterans Administration hospitals. They are paid for by the V.F.W.

New London, Clintonville In Playoffs

New London — The New London Merchants, co-champions of the Southern division of the Badger Amateur Baseball association, will seek the grand championship in the playoffs at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Clintonville.

New London moved into the playoff finals by downing Iola, 17-2, and Clintonville edged Wittenberg, 6-5. Clintonville won the playoff in 1956 and 1957 downing Waupaca and Eau Claire Dells.

In the playoffs, Clintonville will be representing the Eastern-Western and Northern divisions. New London will be upholding the Southern and Central divisions.

New London downed Hortonville and Manawa to take the Southern division honors and Clintonville edged Bowler and Shawano. Starting pitcher for New London will be Sheldon Rusch and Ben Hoppe will probably start for Clintonville.

201-531 Top Score In Bush League

New London — Bud Price paced the Bush Bowling league Thursday night at Prah's alleys with a 201-531 for Ollie's Bar as the team won two lines from Standard Feeds.

Greiner's A. G. won a 3-liner from Lea's Bar and Bear Creek Lumber shut out Farm Bachelors. Russ and Don's Bar and Bear Creek Cheese split a series with one win and a tie. Al's Old Timers won three lines from Sawall's Farm Service.

Youth Pays $50 Fine For Driving While License Suspended

New London — Robert J. Millard, Jr., 21, route 1, New London, pleaded guilty of driving while his license was suspended Friday morning when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Roman Krause. He was fined $50 and his driver's license was revoked for one year.

Millard, who was arrested by the city police Sept. 13 in the fifth ward, had his license suspended July 3 for six months after his car collided with a parked Waupaca county squad car on Highway 54.

Wayside Park Near Manawa Completed

Waupaca — A state wayside park on the Little Wolf river near Manawa is completed by 6:30 junior and senior bible county crews, Charles Larson, study. Midweek services begin at 7:30 Wednesday night.

The new wayside is located about three miles south of Manawa on Highway 22 and borders the Little Wolf river and the highway. The entrance is about two blocks south of the river bridge.

Features of the park include charcoal grills, incinerators, parking space and boat unloading facilities.

The high bank along the Wolf was cut to the water allowing access for fishermen. Two charcoal grills featuring all metal construction on a pole set in concrete slab will serve picnickers. The two large concrete incinerators are for burning picnic debris.

Park tables have not yet been installed.

VFW Committee Surveys Needs At Army Home

King — Department officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary surveyed needs at the Grand Army home Thursday in connection with the organization's veterans' facility project.

The VFW and its auxiliary annually provide treats and comforts to veterans confined in hospitals. The survey covered the five veteran facilities in the state. Last year $16,000 was disbursed.

Visiting the home were Miss Marie Zuelke, Wausau, department president; Mrs. John Lobermeier, Park Falls, senior vice president, and Mrs. Florence Tell, Milwaukee, hospital purchasing agent. They were escorted by Mrs. Leta Mortensen and Mrs. Julius Wenzel, both of Waupaca.

Buick's New Styling is sleek and low for 1959. The model shown is the luxurious two-door Electra hardtop which measures less than 55 inches in height, yet retains approximately the same headroom as last year's Buick. The "delta-wing" styling of the rear fenders that flare out to a point, and twin headlights that are set on an angle give the new Buick a look that is light and jaunty. Compound windshields that curve back into the roof and eliminate wind noise are a feature on all 1958 Buicks. The Electra is powered by a 401-cubic inch V-8 engine with 10.5-to-1 compression ratio. Twin turbine Dynaflo and power steering are standard on all models in the Electra series. The new cars went on display yesterday in the showrooms of Cloud Buick Company, local Buick dealer, 210 N. Morrison street.

Buick for 1959 Features Complete Styling 'Break' With the Past

The 1959 Buick line, first of the nation's new model automobiles to be introduced this year, makes a complete styling break with the past. "They don't look like Buicks," is the spontaneous comment heard most often, according to Cloud Buick, local Buick dealer. The 17 models in three newly-named series—LeSabre, Invicta, Electra—represent a revolutionary concept in automobile styling. The 1959 Buicks boast "delta-wing" rear fenders and dual headlights canted at a jaunty angle to extend the sprightly look the entire length of the car. "These cars are so new that we had to change the names," said Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors. The LeSabre, the lowest priced series, has six models. Invicta, in the middle price range, has five models. Electra, the luxury series, has three models, augmented by three companion models in the Electra 225 line which are 225 inches long. All three series have four-door sedans, four-door hardtops and two-door hardtops. There are convertibles in LeSabre, Invicta and Electra 225 series. There is a two-door sedan in the LeSabre series, four-door estate wagons in both LeSabre and Invicta series and a four-door Riviera Sedan and a four-door hardtop in the Electra 225.

A white top. Included are Copper Glow, Pearl Fawn, Lido Lavender, Tawny Rose, Tawny Red, Turquoise, Wedgewood Blue, Shalimar Blue, Glacier Green, Sierra Spruce, Silver Birch and Sable Black. Keyed to the new colors are 49 interior trims, each coded to the compatible exterior shade. LeSabre series offers 16 trims, the Invicta series 13 and the Electra series 20. Standard LeSabre closed body trims feature a smart new knobby material called Barbary cloth with bolsters and accent of cordaveen. Invicta trim is of nylon-faced Balfour cloth with matching cordaveen bolsters. Electra interiors feature nylon mojavé cloth with cordaveen and wool broadcloth with cordaveen. LeSabre and Invicta convertibles are trimmed in genuine hand-buffed leather.

New Colors
Thirteen new colors, all in a sparkling acrylic lacquer finish called Magic Mirror, are available for the 17 models in Buick's three new series. But an Arctic White top with any of the colors will be the only two-tone paint combination offered. Twenty-five exterior color combinations are available to 1959 Buick buyers—the 13 solid colors including Arctic White and the 12 others with

Oldsmobile to Introduce Two Completely New Styles for 1959

The automobile industry in general, and Oldsmobile in particular, are headed for a successful 1959 model year, according to the optimistic prediction made in Detroit recently by Jack F. Wolfram, general manager of Oldsmobile and a vice president of General Motors.

Speaking to the nation's automobile writers and editors gathered in Detroit to preview the 1959 Oldsmobile, Wolfram revealed that Oldsmobile will introduce two completely new body styles in its 1959 line. They are the Holiday Sport Sedan—a sporty four-door family-size car—and the two-door Holiday Scenic Coupe which has an entirely new silhouette, a snappy appearance and exceptional visibility in all directions. The two new styles will be available throughout the Oldsmobile line.

"I believe that these two body styles will attract the many people who want a totally new automobile—something different—especially buyers who want a full-size family car with a sporty flair," Wolfram said. "Oldsmobile's line," he added, "will continue the well-established Dynamic '88', Super '88' and '98'. I know our customers are going to like that."

Styling New
"Oldsmobile's styling for 1959," Wolfram said, "is entirely different than anything we've done in the past, with clean lines, yet still exciting, brilliant and distinctively Olds."

"Our customers will also like Oldsmobile's greater trunk space—up to 64 per cent more in the Dynamic '88's, the Super '88's, in fact," he added, "more room is a big feature of the entire 1959 Oldsmobile line. As a result of requests from our customers we have built more room and more comfort into all our models. There's more shoulder room, more hip room and more leg room."

Many mechanical innovations designed for added comfort, safety and economy of operation were outlined to the press on an off-the-record basis pending first public showing in Oldsmobile dealer showrooms Friday, October 3.

Production began the first week in September, Wolfram models, which today are still so popular with the used car buyer," he said.

Wolfram told the auto editors that Oldsmobile expects to sell 8 per cent of the predicted industry total of 5 1/2 million cars in 1959.

Local Oldsmobile dealer is the Ree'or Motor company, 212 N. Division street, where the new Oldsmobile for '59 will be shown starting Friday, Oct. 3.

New Richmond Man Hiking From Texas to Peru

Mexico City — Edwin J. Cashman is walking from Laredo, Texas, to Lima, Peru. Cashman, 23, hails from New Richmond, Wis., where his father is a manufacturer. He spent two years in the University of Rochester, N.Y., then early this year decided he wanted to continue his studies in the University of San Marcos at Lima. He decided the best way to get there was afoot — to learn more about the various countries and have "time to think."

"I take shortcuts, to save time and see more of the country," he said. "Sometimes it's dangerous, but I've managed all right so far."

He can make about 25 miles a day with his light gear, and hopes to arrive in Lima next spring or summer. "I sleep on farms and ranches, on floors of adobe huts, and eat native dishes," he said. "I'm growing a big beard, so people will think I'm crazy. They're more sympathetic that way."

He said he had lost 20 pounds — down to a trim 158 on his near 6-foot frame — during the first 650 miles of his hike.

Nasser, Mao and Faubus

This country's foreign policy is again under severe, even bitter, attack both at home and abroad. In fact it is difficult to find defenders of our foreign policy anywhere but in the White House and the State department, plus perhaps the Pentagon. Yet this has almost always been true; it can almost be said that practically no one praises U. S. foreign policy — whatever it may be at the time — except those who have created it and are carrying it out. We have on our desk two newspaper editorials, one from that great voice of American conservatism, the Wall Street Journal, the other from that equally great organ of New Deal liberalism, the Washington Post. Both say essentially the same thing — that our foreign policy is “unrealistic,” that it is spreading us thin through commitments all over the world, that it is losing us friends everywhere. The Post calls for a “gradual accommodation to reality in the Far East,” accuses the administration of “playing with war, like a juvenile toying with Russian roulette,” describes our involvement in the Formosa strait as a “case of indecent exposure.” The Journal insists that “it is simply not true that every piece of non-communist land in the world is vital, or equally important, to the security of the United States,” that Quemoy is of “no intrinsic significance for American interests,” and criticizes our “unseemly activity of jumping every time and at every place Moscow or Peiping chooses to make us jump.” These are brave and eloquent words, but we cannot help wondering how these editorialists would react if we actually began doing what they say they want us to do — give up more lands and peoples to communist imperialism, and draw back to defensive positions in those places that are “vital to the security of the United States” or which have “intrinsic significance for American interests.” Just what places are vital to our security, and just where does our interest have “intrinsic significance?” The Philippines? Japan? Australia? Pearl Harbor? Turkey? Iran? North Africa? West Germany? How far do we retreat before turning and fighting? And what do we say to the peoples we are abandoning — that we are sorry, but they are of no “intrinsic interest” to us and we hope the tortures of slavery will not be too excruciating? And what do we say to our friends — those friends who are forever supposed to be wringing their hands at our clumsiness and obtuseness — as we bow to aggression in the various “insignificant” parts of the world? What shall we say when we raise our voice in the United Nations, especially to those delegates who are awaiting their communist replacements and are perhaps looking around for a place — and a way — to live now that their homelands are closed to them? Will we tell them that we are “facing reality” and suggest, perhaps, that they should do the same? And does such “reality” mean that if they want to be defended against rape by the communist beast they had better be strategically located, or have an industrial complex or oil field that is “significant” to us, or perhaps merely have white skins and speak with the cultured accents of the Atlantic community? We find it interesting that these same editorialists have had little but praise for the Supreme Court and the Justice department in their stand on the integration question — that the forces of violence shall not be permitted to strike down the rule of law, or the reign of principle. And yet has not our government said essentially the same thing to Nasser during the Lebanon-Jordan crisis and to Mao in the Quemoy affair that it has said to Gov. Faubus and his fellow southern extremists — that we will not retreat from principle and morality in the face of violence, actual or threatened? Faubus, Khrushchev, Mao and Nasser are basically the same kind of people; they know what they want and they hope to get it through the use of threats, the recruitment of screaming mobs, and the hurling of stones, artillery shells and missiles. The only thing that stands in their way is a United States government that refuses to bow to the ancient idea that might makes right.

Mongrelization and Integration

As the struggle over integration of public schools progresses, more and more people in the South are indicating that fear of sex problems is an important reason for resistance to integration. The southern politician has long defended segregation policies as a means of preventing the “mongrelization” of the human race. Now that many schools have been integrated and many others face the possibility of integration, the question is being considered by parents. Many of them are less articulate than the old-time politician, but their fears may be more real than his. U. S. News and World Report, a weekly newsmagazine published in Washington, has offered its readers a scientific look at this question through interviews with five leading sociologists. It is interesting to note that none of the students of this subject have any real fear that there will be any important intermixing of the races as the result of integration of the schools. On the other hand none pretend to know for certain just what will happen. Dr. Edgar T. Thompson, professor of sociology at Duke University at Durham, N. C., indicated that there is still much to be learned on this subject when he said: I am sure there must be many implications of integration and desegregation that the major groups in the controversy may not wish to discuss as yet and what you are suggesting may be one of them. The effort to solve almost any social problem always seems to raise more problems as we go along. This is to be expected. In the process, those who wish to educate others themselves get educated. I think the point you have raised is just another way of saying that, before the problem of school integration is settled, we shall all have a lot to learn, and undoubtedly we shall all learn a lot. As for what the scientists really know about the question today, as indicated by these interviews, it must be concluded that the fears of the parents on the sex problem, while very real, may be considered vague and irrational. Dr. Robert M. MacIver, professor emeritus of political philosophy and sociology, Columbia University, says the apprehensions of the South are greatly exaggerated. He points out that Negroes and whites have long worked together in factories and offices in such cities as New York and the association rarely leads to marriage. Also he notes that in colleges where there is association, cases of interracial marriage are extremely rare. Most of the scientists agree that Negroes object as much to intermarriage of the races as do the whites. Also, those questioned on the point indicated that the intermixing of the races in America is now less than it has been in the past. On the big question as to whether or not the Negro race will gradually be absorbed by the white race in this country, again the men of science appear to be in agreement that there will be separate races here for a long time. Nevertheless a certain amount of absorption is going on. There are many barriers to intermarriage. About half of the states have laws against it. Even where it is permitted the social barriers appear to be almost as effective. Dr. Curt Stern, professor of Zoology, University of California, points out that a person's characteristics are determined by his genes rather than by his blood. The American Negro today, he says, has inherited about 25 per cent of his genes from white ancestors. This dates back to the days of slavery when white men were the fathers of many children by colored women. Some Negroes are light in color. Some of them pass for whites and frequently disappear into the white community. However, the great majority of Negroes continue their identity as Negroes unchanged. No one is willing to guess how many hundreds or perhaps thousands of years might be required for the complete assimilation of the American Negro by the whites. It may never happen, but if it should Dr. Stern says “the color of the mixed race would be only very slightly darker than now and other differences too would hardly be noticeable.” And he adds, “There is not any evidence anywhere in the world that interracial crossings have biologically bad results.”

The Foxes' First Year

The Fox Cities Baseball club has ended its first season in the Three-I League with enough money left in the bank to start again next year. Under the circumstances this amounts to a vote of confidence by the people of this area in Class B baseball here. This is so because, unfortunately, the Fox Cities in their first year in the league came up with the league's poorest team: the Foxes finished last in both halves of the season, and never were in any real contention for the championship. In all sports and in baseball particularly, the fans turn out in much larger numbers when their team at least has a fighting chance to climb to the top of the standings. At practically no time during the season were the Foxes able to give their fans this reason to come out to the park. Nevertheless the Foxes drew an attendance of almost 59,000 for their 62 home games, or an average of 951 per game. For a team that obviously was going nowhere in the standings, this was a heartening show of support by the home folks. It means, we think, that Class B baseball is solidly established in the Fox Cities — provided we get a team next year, or the next, that can win more games than it loses.

Autumn

A cruising hawk high in the sky
Looks down on a changing world
Autumn is showing its colors
Its banners are now unfurled

Tumble weeds race across the field
They tumble in perfect rhyme
Summer has fled into the past
Days retreating into time

Maples have felt the stinging touch
Of frosts that come in the night
Dogwoods have heard the urgent call
Soon they'll lose a gallant fight

Cottonwoods bow low in sorrow
The sumacs cannot be glad
The cold sting of advancing hosts
Has made the tamaracks sad

Tall thistles stand beside the slough
Bearded ghosts of other years
They know the winds that tell of doom
Bravely they hold back their tears

The pine trees whisper on the ridge
Days will soon be out of pawn
Weeping willows will weep no more
Time rides to another dawn

Larks will be back in the meadows
A thrush will sing in a tree
Down from the hills waters will splash
The restless streams will be free

Rushes will stir in the marshlands
The oaks will be young once more
Crocus will bloom in the valley
Sandpipers will haunt the shore

The Public Pulse

Public Favors Atom Test Ban—With Inspection

BY ELMO ROPER AND ASSOCIATES

If Russia and the United States end years of dispute to take the first small step toward atomic arms control, a majority of the U. S. public will rejoice. That first step is the cessation of atomic bomb tests and the establishment of an inspection system to enforce it, a recommendation pounded out jointly by Russian and American scientists and now up for consideration by their governments. Nationwide survey results show that such an agreement would be hailed by 58 per cent of the public in this country, against 31 per cent who insist that nuclear weapons testing continue.

Which of these statements best expresses your attitude toward the testing of nuclear bombs?

We should stop testing nuclear bombs right away, whatever Russia does. 9

We should form an agreement with Russia to stop bomb testing only if a system of international inspection is set up. 37

It is imperative that we continue testing nuclear bombs, whatever Russia does. 31

Express no opinion. 11

Opinion on the desirability of ending atomic tests is spread unevenly through the population. People who have not gone beyond grade school have previously shown the greatest apprehension that the atom will be more than man can handle. The same trend is evident today, if eagerness to end testing is a measure of fear of The Bomb. The desire to call an unconditional halt to bomb tests is twice as prevalent among people with grade school backgrounds as among those with high school or college education. However, both college and high school educated people have a strong belief in a ban enforced by inspection.

for such inspection before ending tests.

Fallout Threat

One big question in the test controversy has been: How dangerous is the radioactive fallout that the tests send into the earth's atmosphere? On this, experts and men in power has disagreed. Proponents of testing have argued that only thus can a “clean” bomb be developed — one relatively free from fallout. Others have replied with the question: How “clean” can any device be which can bring sudden death to millions? More often

Intests in ending bomb tests seems closely connected with vulnerability to actual bomb attack, for people living in our biggest cities show the greatest sense of urgency that something be done to en bomb tests, without waiting for the perhaps remote time when Russia will permit inspection within her borders. In towns and cities with less than a million population, only 19 per cent think we should stop testing even without a system of inspection. In cities with over a million people, a most twice that proportion — 36 per cent — would not wait than not, in attempting to balance the threat of testing to future generations against the threat of being militarily weaker than Russia, the balance achieved has depended on the balancer.

Until a month ago, attempts to reach governmental agreement on this issue have foundered in a sea of talk. But last August, to the surprise of many, a technical agreement was reached between U. S. and Russian scientists on the ways and means of inspecting a ban on bomb tests. Now the United States and Britain, following Russia's lead, have proposed to suspend their tests, while the three nations meet to try to make that suspension permanent and get the dreaded atom in some sort of international harness. This will be only the beginning of real arms control at best, but it is a welcome beginning to a majority of Americans.

Says Leaders are 'Two Good Kids'

New York Herald-Tribune

This is how life goes in Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters union.

The senate investigation found that Tom Burke, one of the faithful, got $11,815 for “retirement” in 1955. Thereupon Bure hustled down to Miami and had a high time — so high that he ran up $10,028 hotel bills in eighteen months. The Teamsters union paid every penny of it, checks signed by Hoffa.

Then came the day when Harold J. Gibbons, a teamster big wheel, notified Burke to get back on the job. There was a final advance; the “gooseberry box” (Burke's expression) was presumably empty.

Thereupon Burke cheerily wrote a thank-you note: “When I get my hands on a bundle, I'll pay you back . . . You and Hoffa are two good kids.”

Well, that's the way Hoffa runs the biggest union in America. But we wonder what the teamsters rank and file think about such monkeybusiness.

Looking Backward

Terrible Deed Committed at Dale Pond

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Sept. 20, 1879.

We regret to learn that some unhung scamp, out of pure cussedness, poisoned about all of the fine stock of brook trout in the ponds of Messrs. Capt. Young and Maj. Worden in the town of Dale.

Only this year's fry escaped the general destruction. Capt. Young has expended a large amount of time and money in fish culture. He had the ponds well stocked with vigorous finny beauties, expecting soon to realize some bounty for his time and money.

The outrage is a cowardly disgrace to civilization and we sincerely trust that the perpetrator may be discovered and punished, as he deserves to be.

Saturday, Sept. 16, 1933

Melvin Buesing was elected president of the Appleton High school student council. John Frank was elected vice president and James Gmeiner secretary-treasurer.

The Rev. D. E. Bosserman, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church was to address a young people's rally at St. Paul Lutheran church at Neenah.

Appointment of David Smith to head the annual Salvation Army drive here to raise $5,000 was announced that morning by Capt. Henry Servais.

Appointment of the chamber of commerce forum committee, charged with arrangements for meetings of the chamber's general membership, was announced by J. R. Whitman, chamber president. Herb Heilig was to be chairman and other members included Herbert Kahn, Ralph E. Moody, William J. Ferron, George Noltling and E. C. Hilfert.

Mrs. Anna Fahrbach, Menasha, was nominated for president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Henry J. Lenz post of the American Legion.

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Sept. 18, 1948

Miss Mary Koleske, an Appleton High school senior, was to be in charge of the McKinley school branch of the Appleton public library which was to open next week.

The Appleton Council of Social Agencies was to hold its first public meeting and dinner at the American Legion clubhouse. F. A. W. Hammond, Appleton relief director, was general chairman.

Mrs. Tom Browne, Wau-paca, Seventh district president of the Federated Women's clubs, was to be the speaker Monday afternoon before the Rosholt Woman's club. She was to tell what the club can do for its community as well as mention its responsibilities for the future.

P. S. Were any of your photographers lucky enough to get pictures of the gremlins?

Editor's Note — Yes, our photographer was a lucky enough to get a picture and here it is —

However, it was so late when the Gremlin came out . . . and he was so full of ink . . . We wish we could have had a better view of him!

Skin Divers Pushed on By The Spirit of Adventure

Appleton, Kaukauna Men Hunt For Trophies, Sunken Treasure on Murky Bottom of Great Lakes

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Kaukauna—The search for buried or sunken treasure has, for generations, attracted the fancy of men and the desire to explore new or uncharted territories has appealed to the adventuresome spirit in individuals.

Four area men have started a hobby which permits them to do both as they skin dive beneath the waters of Lake Michigan, area rivers and inland lakes in Wisconsin. Although the search for treasure is usually connected with the ocean or tropical shores, these four men feel the waters in Lake Michigan offer many more rewarding trophies than many people could imagine.

Richard Boyd, Kaukauna college student; William Rohlf, Kaukauna college student; Jack Engerson, Appleton policeman and Frank Pierri, Appleton restaurant operator, are the men who have found rewarding adventures in Lake Michigan, diving from Anchor Sam's Yacht Harbor in Sister Bay. SCUBA Divers

The four divers to be known as SCUBA divers rather than skin divers. The letters stand for "self contained underwater breathing apparatus." All men became interested in underwater exploration through reading magazine articles and other stories about diving in the ocean. They started local diving in rivers and inland lakes and when Engerson established himself in business, selling diving equipment and setting up the only breathing tank refill service in the area, the four became acquainted and started diving as a team.

Each of the four is an expert in a specific field. Engerson in equipment, Rohlf on ships, Boyd on technical questions and history of finds and Pierri is "what the others term as the "big promoter."

To date the main finds have been anchors, bottles, chairs and other loose equipment taken from sailing ships which were sunk in the great lakes about 100 years ago. Boyd is an honorary member of the State Historical society and whenever something of real historical value is discovered, it is turned over to the society.

All men feel the Great Lakes offers many opportunities for divers as records show many ships sunk in the lake about 1871. All speak of the thrill of a find from ancient ships and the satisfaction derived from exploring areas where no man has been before. Man has traveled everywhere on land but beneath the water is a still unknown world, according to the SCUBA divers.

Equipment Needed
To dive the first essential is a person must be a capable swimmer and second he must be willing to invest in good equipment. Faulty equipment could result in sudden death, say the men. A person with a perforated ear drum, with bad sinus condition or one who panics easily should never attempt diving, they stated.

Major expenditure for diving is the first purchase of equipment which costs about $200. The essential items include a face mask, swimming flippers, a weighted belt, a rubber dry suit, a tank, regulator life guard belt and knife. Additional items may be added later but the above is sufficient to get a man off to a good start in the sport.

Close Calls
The men have many interesting experiences under the water both in work accomplished and fun had with fishermen or boaters who fail to realize there are divers in the vicinity. The men have a flag which denotes divers in the area meaning boats are to keep clear of the area but many do not realize the significance of the flag and often are attracted by it.

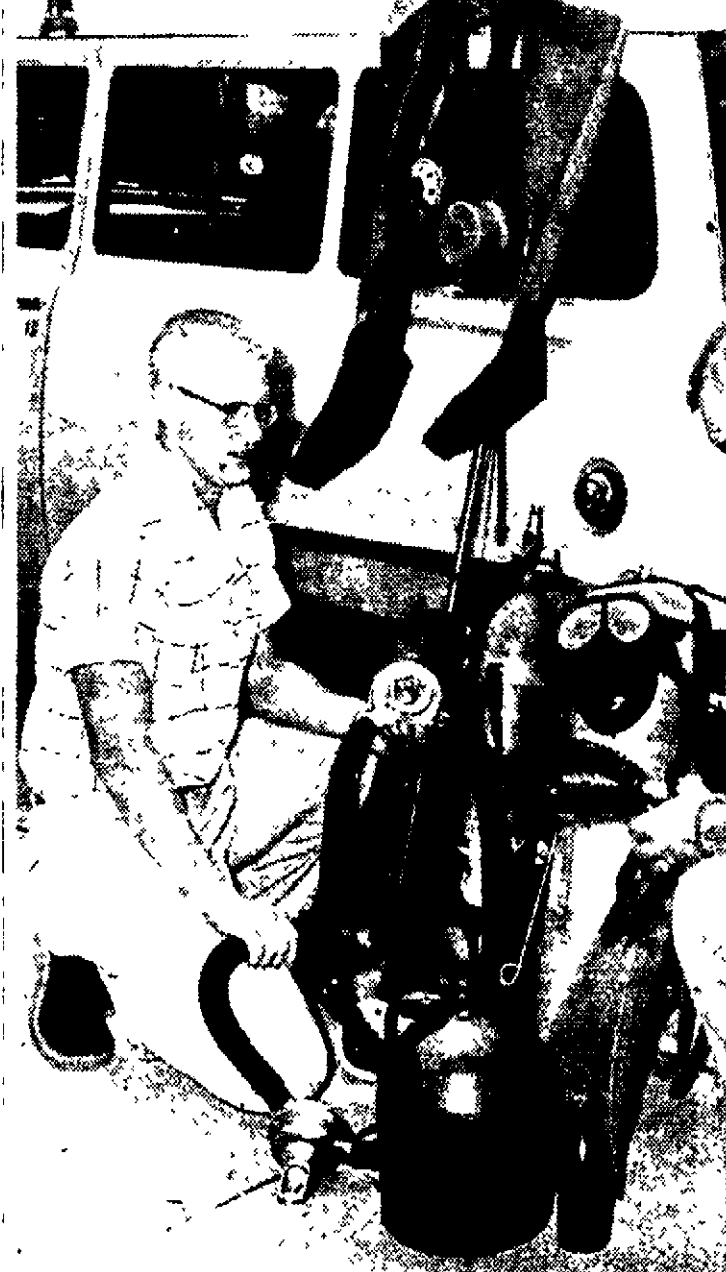

thrown from a fisherman's boat and also had close calls with propeller blades. They speak of their underwater world with respect, telling of the strange beauty of the often dark and always quiet depths of the lake. Schools of fish, particularly smallmouth bass, are often a nuisance as they try to explore sunken ships and the bass often swim around the around them inspecting the strange looking creatures.

A diver must be careful about his sense of direction, it is impossible to tell when under water whether he is traveling toward the bottom, the surface or in any of the other four directions. This is particularly true when below 100 feet down as often the oxygen tank may be running low and the diver must surface before running out.

Good tanks are equipped with a J-valve safety device which permits a diver to get sufficient air after the main portion of his tank has been emptied to return to the surface. The men speak of the cliffs, crags and gravel heaps found below the water's surface, similar to those found on land but these are unexplored.

The depths offer many hours of rewarding pleasure as it stimulates the adventuresome spirit in the man and once a diver makes his first underwater exploration, he will find himself anxious to return. The four dive winter and summer and besides diving for fun and treasure, they make themselves available to help fishermen or sportsmen who may lose a motor, fishing gear or other valuable equipment while on a spin in the lakes.

Checking Equipment Used in diving are Richard Boyd, Kaukauna college student, and Jack Engerson, a member of the Appleton police force, both of whom dive for sport and treasure in Lake Michigan and inland lakes and rivers throughout the state.

Local Control of Boat, Water Rules Appears Favored

Interim Committee Proposes Fee For Motor-Driven Craft of State

Madison—A legislative-citizens interim committee studying recreational boating problems has decided that motor propelled boats should be subject to a state registration fee, but that laws governing the operation of boats on public water should be primarily enacted by the local governments.

The committee, which has shown a spirited divergence of view on various boat regulation issues, will report to the 1959 legislature under a mandate of the 1957 session. 'Home Rule'

In its deliberations here, it showed a healthy regard for the strong "home rule" prejudices of the state legislature, as it voted against proposals for state boat speed laws and other state-wide standards of operation for pleasure craft. Some organized boating interests have denounced the multiplicity of local boat regulation ordinances, which they have described as a "hodge-podge" interfering with the enjoyment of nautical sport. There are now about 250,000 pleasure boats in the state.

The committee led by Sen. W. F. Trinke of Lake Geneva approved a registration fee of a dollar a year for motor propelled boats, with price concessions to the fleet owners, livery operators and others with numbers of craft that would be subject to registration.

Trinke urged a modest fee, in order to get legislative support. "Make it a dollar and you can pass it," he told his colleagues. "Once it is on the books it can be changed. Once it was 50 cents. Now it is two dollars."

While the committee urged local autonomy on the issue of boat regulation in detail, it approved a motion for a general state statute — modeled upon the motor vehicle code — setting up a reckless operation prohibition within which localities could legislate upon their option.

Hidden Persuaders

No Secret That Package Sells Product in Today's Market

Are there salesmen in your supermarket?

The answer is, yes—there are more salesmen around than you could count in a day. If you don't recognize them as salesmen, maybe it's because they don't wear shirts or ties, nor do they ask aloud whether you need sugar today or if you forgot to buy butter.

Box Sells Product

They don't have two eyes, a nose, or a mouth. Some have flaps, some have tucks, some have flip-top lids. Some have nozzles and spouts and soft sides, some are short and squat, others tall and slender. Most of them look a lot like boxes.

This is because most of them are boxes — products of America's billion dollar folding carton industry.

And in a self-service store, they have a whole of a job to do. Each one is an up-front salesman. Each one meets the consumer face to face . . . at the time and place where all the impact of advertising, marketing, public relations, research, promotion, and the whole gamut of pre-sale activity has to come alive.

Self-Service Gimmick

And the gathering momentum of today's trend to self-service puts a terrific selling responsibility on the package's shoulders.

Self-service isn't new, of course. In the bygone days of the cracker barrel, the pickle barrel, the sugar barrel, flour barrel—self-service was quite the thing . . . and customers and products met more familiarly than face to face—they met hand to hand.

Mrs. Feeny dug into the cracker barrel with her talented fingers, and emerged with a dozen or two of the very best crackers in that entire barrel. She'd pick each one up, examine it, sniff at it thoughtfully, snap off a corner by way of administering her own personal freshness test, then put the carefully selected assortment down on the counter, and smile at the proprietor.

"These look nice, Mr. Flurb."

Modern Marketing

To say that "things are different today" would, of course, be superfluous.

Consider the gleaming supermarket. With its long aisles stocked with folding cartons—packaged food and products from near and far. Dept., 243 West 17th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly on each carton: NAME, ADDRESS with aged fresh-frozen products from asparagus to Zucchini.

After Long Marriage Wife Finds Husband Unfaithful

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: My hand is so shaky I can scarcely hold the pen. After 18 years of happy married life I learned by accident that my husband had an affair last year with another woman.

When I told him I knew, he broke down and cried like a baby. He admitted everything, said he was on the verge of telling me a hundred times and that he was relieved that I'd found out.

He assured me the affair was over and that he hated himself for being such a fool. I know he's telling the truth because this woman used to work for him and she left the city four months ago to take another position.

I don't think I'll ever get over it. I'm afraid whenever I look at him I'll see her face. As a matter of pride I'd leave him but I have four children in school and I hate to think of putting them through the ordeal of finding out their father was a cheat. Please, Ann, tell me what to do. — HBW

Bury the past. Don't pick it and keep it on the mantel. There's nothing so futile as beating yourself over the head with what happened yesterday.

Your husband admitted he was a fool. The woman is gone. What more can he do? If you want real trouble, just keep digging up this old bone and throwing it in his face. Forgive him and forget it.

DEAR ANN: Can you help a heartbroken girl right away? My steady boy friend and I went up to the lake for a swim. He picked me up and kiddingly threw me off the dock, as he had done many times before. I'm a good swimmer and this was not a dangerous thing to do. Unfortunately, I hit the dock and cut my leg in two places. I had to be taken to the hospital and they took eight stitches.

Now my parents are opposed to my going with this fellow. They say he's a roughneck who doesn't know how to conduct himself, and that I can't date him again. I'm crazy about this boy

Saleslady Expected to Be Tactful

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been working in a large department store for several years, and patience is "wearing thin" as we salesladies have to take so much from our customers. Do you really believe that the customer is always right?

Answer: Tact is always an asset, and in business it is almost as essential as diplomacy. But why any customer is led to imagine that the precepts of courtesy need not apply to her behavior, is to be explained only as a point of view of a person of utterly false pretense. It is true that patience and good temper are qualities exacted of saleswomen, whereas there is no one to restrain the ill humor or unreasonableness of a customer except her own good breeding.

Query on Accommodation

Dear Mrs. Post: What obligation is there for the bride's family to put up the various ones coming from out of town for the wedding? Are there any who have to be taken care of and any who don't have to be?

Answer: The bride's attendants who come from out of town have to be provided for by her family, but not necessarily any others. It would of course be very hospitable to take care of the bridegroom's immediate family, if possible. But this is the exception rather than the rule.

Give Verbal Thanks

Dear Mrs. Post: We've received a verbal invitation to dinner at the house of a business associate of my husband. He's a much higher executive in the company. We do not know them socially nor is it likely that we will ever invite them to our house. After this dinner would a thank-you note be the polite gesture?

Answer: No, your verbal thanks for a delicious dinner given as you leave your host's house the evening of the dinner is all that is expected of you.

Crossandra

Indoor Gardening

Prolific Acanthus Family Includes Pretty Crossandra

By Katherine B. Walker

Crossandra is still fairly new to most indoor gardeners although it was widely introduced some years ago. Yet it has won a host of admirers and has stimulated in other members of the Acanthus family. Older favorites in this family include Shrimp-plant, Freckle-face, King's-crown, Redflame-ivy, Black-eyed Susan vine, and Nerve-plants; newer ones are Stenandrium, Aphelandra Louise, Strobilanthes, and Chamaeranthemum.

Crossandra is a very glossy-leaved little shrub, with handsome 4-sided spikes of salmon-colored flowers, and when grown warm enough, it is almost everblooming.

Need Rich Loam

For best growth, Crossandra (C. undulata) is the one offered by most growers. It needs rich loam, or peat mixed with sand. Give it warmth, plenty of moisture in the air as well as at the roots, and keep the plants out of direct sunlight.

The plants' preference for high humidity and temperature, sometimes not fully understood even by professional growers, has led to many disappointments with them; yet they are no more difficult to grow than African violets, and, like them, simply refuse to flower if the air is too cool or too dry. Like most of the Acanthaceae, Crossandra needs regular fertilizing in order to do its best.

By U. S. standards, Japanese films cost next to nothing.

Crossandra may be started from either seed or cuttings, but in either case give bottom heat unless the normal temperature is in the eighties. It is very easy to grow from seed, and in my opinion plants started from seed in the place where they are to be grown are more satisfactory than those which must adjust from greenhouse conditions to the less-than-perfect circumstances of most homes.

My seed-grown plants, never having known anything better than what my indoor garden had to offer, seemed much healthier and more willing to flower than those I bought already potted.

Questions and Answers

If you could only grow one plant, what would you choose? I think I'd choose the nearest hospital! I can't imagine a worse dilemma than having to select just one plant to grow, but if I absolutely had to, I know it would be something almost everblooming, with attractive foliage, and a fairly rapid grower. Probably Ervatamia coronaria var. flore pleno, familiarly known as Butterfly-gardenia, would be the one. I'd try to cheat a little, and grow Kenilworth-ivy with it as a ground cover! And I'd probably keep Butterfly-gardenia in a huge pot, so I'd have room in it for Carrissa and Maurandia and Impatiens and Allophyton and—well, let's be honest; I don't think I could restrain myself to one plant. We are planning a new house right now, and built-in planters are more important to me than a built-in oven.

Hum Those Oldies— They're Back in Tune

Ballads That Go Back to When Maggie
And Friend Were Young Now Popular

BY HUGH MULLIGAN

What ever became of the old songs? They used to ask that about the old jokes until television came along and gave the old knee slappers a 99-year lease on immortality.

Now with the advent of long playing records, which devour material even faster than television, the old songs—and the older the better—have found a permanent outlet.

The album package may boast of full frequency range, stereophonic sound and other modern acoustical marvels, but what comes out is "Marcheta," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "When You Were Sweet Sixteen" and similar ballads that left Grandpa clammy and limp beside the old morning glory horn on his stem winding victrola.

Sound Better

A dozen or so new albums issued this month by major companies might have been made 25 years ago, except that the sound is better, the singers are of more recent vintage and their voices don't sound as if they were recorded at the end of a clogged rain pipe.

Perry Como strolls down memory lane, gathering old chestnuts along the way, in two new releases: "Just For You" and "Golden Records."

Among the old goldies that Como revisits are "Only A Paper Moon," "Marcheta," "Prisoner of Love," "Till the End of Time" and "Because."

Opera and Opry In "Moments Like These," the past also falls across the Dinah Shore reverently blows the dust off "Deep Purple," "These Foolish Things," "I'll Remember April" and similar musical reminders of a day when singers sang without benefit of guitar or previous acrobatic training. As always, Dinah is smooth, hushed and faultless in tone and taste.

The beckoning shadow of Jack Paar Says He's Going to Quit TV Show Next Summer

New York — Jack Paar says he will quit his NBC-TV program next July, declaring that the network has refused his request for a shorter program.

Paar said last night: "If they will cut my one hour and 45 minutes to an hour and a quarter, I'll stay. But they say they won't and so I am going out."

No NBC spokesman was available for comment. "I'm doing more television than Gleason, Gobel, Allen and Berle combined. No, I don't want more money. I just want less time," he said.

Paar has a 5-year contract with NBC. Next July he will have completed two years of his contract.

Tallulah to Play In 'Crazy October'

New York — A "macabre comedy" entitled "Crazy October" has lured Tallulah Bankhead as her next Broadway vehicle.

The playwright, James Leo Herlihy, said he only realized after completing the script how the central role might suit Miss Bankhead.

A partial description of the focal distaff assignment is "a steam engine of a woman. Once her eyes draw a bead on you, they hold it until you back down. Her speech too, has the melody of a machine gun with a Southern accent."

Sgt. Preston Also to Don Flannel Suit

Richard Simmons Signs as Actor, Promoter of Show

BY BOB THOMAS AP Motion Picture Writer

Hollywood — Sergeant Preston of the Yukon has a new outfit to go with his scarlet jacket—a grey flannel suit. Sgt. Preston, the handsome, stalwart peace officer of the northern wilds is Richard Simmons. This week he was signed for another 26 TV shows in the series and as executive of the Jack Wrather organization, too.

The new setup came about when Dick was up for renewal. TV tycoon Wrather took into account the actor's many trips to win friends for the show and its sponsor. "We ought to get more work out of this boy," Wrather declared. So besides keeping the sour-doughs in line, Dick will serve as liaison between the Wrather company and the new stations and sponsors of the show, which is now going into syndication. He also hopes to get into the production end. "This is just an extension of the work I used to do at MGM," he remarked in his comfortable Encino home. "I was signed as an actor, but I ended up emceeing all the studio's premieres, greeting exhibitors, recording 14 radio shows a week."

He started in Hollywood back in 1940, when he was spotted in a Palm Springs rodeo. Louis B. Mayer had the Hardy, Kildare and Maisle series going and envisioned an action series for Dick. But it never came about.

Dick finally left the studio in 1952, when the freeze was on. Fortunately, TV was getting into full swing, and he started getting good roles in home-screen dramas. He was doing well in TV and occasional films when doughty Sgt. Preston came along to monopolize his time.

"It's aimed at a special audience—the youngsters," Dick said, "but strangely enough, we've developed an amazing following of adults."

Eddie Fisher to Skip Allen Show

New York — Singer Eddie Fisher has decided to skip an appearance Sunday night on NBC-TV's "Steve Allen Show," the network said today.

A network spokesman said the reason given by Fisher was that he has not been well lately, and also was trying to prepare for an hour-long show of his own on Sept. 30.

The spokesman said he gave no indication whether his decision also might have been prompted in any way by the fact that there were some boos from the studio audience when his name was mentioned on the Allen show last Sunday. The audience action apparently stemmed from his

Clintonville Jolts New London, 32-6

Keith Lambie Scores Twice In M-E Conference Inaugural

BY DICK MCDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

New London — The Clintonville Truckers announced their Mid-Eastern conference intentions here Friday night when they jolted the New London Bulldogs, 32-6.

Clintonville was well-primed to wipe out the loss suffered last week at the hands of Portage and started grinding the Bulldog defense in the first quarter before starting the scoring in the second period.

Fullback Keith Lambie was the ramrod of the first Truckers touchdown drive which started in the opening plays of the second quarter. Starting on the New London 27, Clintonville picked up a first down on the New London 16 before Lambie drove through when they jolted the New London Bulldogs, 32-6.

A Clintonville fumble was recovered by New London's Gene Fielding on the 12 and of Portage and started grinding the Bulldog defense in the first quarter before starting the scoring in the second period.

Clintonville recovered its own fumble on the 13 and Lambie plunged to the 4 again. On the next play Lambie broke into the end zone for the first touchdown. Jim Petka's placement was wide.

On the kickoff return, New London gained only five yards before they were forced to punt. The Bulldogs stopped the punt return on their own 48 and on the next play, Lambie went to the New London 23 to set up the second touchdown.

Quarterback Leon Westphal picked up a first down on the New London 12 and two plays later, Lambie again went into the end zone. The placement was wide.

Clintonville's offensive continued to click in the third quarter when the Truckers took a New London punt on their own 33. They gained a first down on the Clintonville 44 and on the next play Halfback Archie Gough broke through the right side of his line for a 56-yard touchdown sprint. Westphal's placement gave the Truckers a 19-0 lead.

Block Punt

Later in the same period, the Truckers blocked a New London punt and took possession on the Bulldog 31. After a 4-yard gain, Petka scored on a 27-yard line play. The placement was good and Clintonville led 26-0.

Clintonville's final touchdown play was early in the fourth quarter when End Wayne Hansen recovered a New London fumble on the Bulldog 4. Two plays later, Reserve Bill Olmstead scored from the 1.

Later in the last quarter New London's Art Plowman recovered his second fumble on the Clintonville 18.

Reserve Gary Herres carried the ball on the next three plays against the Clintonville first string line and finally punched the ball over the Clintonville one-foot line. The Bulldog placement was blocked on the last play of the game.

The game also had an embarrassing situation, Referee Bob Grogan, of Kaukauna, blew his whistle on a Clintonville play in the closing minutes of the first quarter when a Clintonville player started around his own right end. The referee thought there was a hand-off and when the player going around the left end was tackled by a Bulldog he blew the whistle.

Petka ran about 47 yards for a touchdown but the play was called back because of the whistle. Two New London players passed up a chance to tackle Petka after the whistle and Umpire Carl Giordana had dropped his flag for a clipping penalty.

Packers Play Final Non-Loop Game Sunday

can do right from the beginning of a game (he had entered the three previous games in the second half).

McLean plans to work a number of rushing combinations and then possibly base some of the cuts on their performance. The team is well stocked in offensive rushing backs. Besides "Fergie," and Shanley there are rookies, Jim Taylor and Dick Christy and veterans Paul Hornung, Al Carmichael and Don McIlhenny.

McLean and his aides face a major task in reducing the squad from the present 40 players to the league limit of 35 which goes into effect Tuesday.

The Packer emphasis likely will be on scoring Sunday due to the Packers' skid from 41 to 14 points in their last two games. Starr, "Babe" Parrilli and possibly Joe Francis will get their share of engineering what is hoped will be successful touchdown thrusts.

In Same Boat

The Cardinals are in the same boat, so to speak. They also have a new coach, "Pop" Ivy who succeeded Packer defense coach Ray Richards, and they also want to go springing into their league opener—against the Giants.

Ivy is going with his best, which means quarterback Lamar McHan and the great halfback, Ollie Matson.

This could be a terrific game—if past Packer—Cardinal exhibitions mean anything. Two years ago the Bays edged the Cards, 27-24, in a thriller in St. Louis; The Bays edged the cards twice in back to back games last season, 20-16, in Miami and 17-14 in Austin.

The Cards trained here all week—which means that they received most of the "ink" and undoubtedly will be the crowd's favorite. Generally, however, this is a Packer stronghold and if the Bays show sock-em signs the fans will back their Badger neighbors.

The Packers and Steelers were dull beyond imagination in their exhibition here a year ago. The game ended in a 10-10 tie.

One Packer will miss action—linebacker Tom Bettis who injured his arm. Gary Knafele, who missed the last two games, may see some activity. Ray Nitschke, the rookie from Illinois, will take over Bettis' middle linebacker position. Nitschke has looked exceptionally good in the last few games.

Vickroy Appointed To Rating Committee

Kansas City — William Vickroy, football coach at La Crosse State college has been named District 14 member of the National association of Intercollegiate Athletics football rating committee. He succeeds Joe Gerlach, former coach at Stout.

Carrie Winterfeldt Smacks 541 in Greenville Loop

Art Glandt's 581 threesome set the kegging pace in the lead-off session of Sportsmen's league bowling at Sherwood.

Sam Penning's 233 singleton was the largest loner.

Carrie Winterfeldt smashed a 541 triple in the Greenville Women's circuit at Hortonville. She rattled a 207 singleton. Dorothy Griesbach slammed a 224.

Other honor tallies in the Sportsmen's league were by Darrell Holcomb (562) and Roland Hackbarth (559) and Cecelia Gerlach, former coach at Stout.

'Wega Posts 26-6 Victory Boushley Scores Two Touchdowns Against Plainfield

Weyauwega — Scoring once in every period, the Weyauwega High school football team stopped Plainfield, 26-6, Friday afternoon at Plainfield.

Left half Roger Boushley scored on runs of 20 and two yards to pace the Indians to their second straight non-league win. Right half Jim Billington and a sophomore halfback Tim Flanagan accounted for the other 'Wega touchdowns on respective runs of 12 and 30 yards.

Billington and Boushley each scored an extra point on line plays. Plainfield counted in the second quarter on a 20-yard runback of an interception.

Freedom — Senior fullback Roger Springstroh turned in scoring runs of 40 and three yards Friday afternoon as Freedom High school spoiled Hortonville's Little Nine conference debut, 13-0.

Springstroh burst through the middle from the Hortonville 40 in the third quarter to break a scoreless tie. His short run in the fourth period capped a 70-yard ground drive. Ron Randerson and Vern Bowers shared the ball-carrying load with Springstroh. Hank VandenBesch place-kicked the point after the second score.

The win was Freedom's third straight, overall.

The Polar Bears' chief threat was passing, and they completed eight of 15. Joe Steffen starred as a thrower and on defense. Hortonville's farthest penetration was the Freedom 25.

Freedom defensive standouts included Dan Carney, "Butch" Vandewettering, Ken Scheibe and Vern Newhouse.

New Holstein—Chilton High school scored a 14-6 victory over Brillion Friday on the Eastern Wisconsin conference's opening night of the 1958 football season.

In the first quarter, Chilton halfback Tom Reinkober clinaxed a 55-yard drive with a 4-yard off-tackle shot into the end zone. Bill Schneider then scored the first of his two extra points via the quarterback sneak route.

Art Hertel's interception and return to the Brillion 30 set up the visiting Tigers' score in the second period. A Pete Hoffmann-to-Hertel pass ate up 20 of the remaining yards, before Hoffmann went over from the 3.

A 60-yard fourth period drive enabled Brillion to crash the scoring column. The TD play was a 30-yard pass, Dennis Krizensky to Bob Hanson.

Chilton, which gained its second win overall outgained the Lions, 197 total yards to 101. The Tigers completed three of four passes for 47 yards, while the hosts completed two of 11 for 55 yards. The teams were even (8-8) in the first down department.

By The Associated Press

Pitching
Bob Fingers, Pirates, became Bus' top winner in 30 years, season leader in majors with his 22nd victory, beating the Phillies, 4-2, with a 5-hitter, walking one and striking out two.

Hitting
Jerry Lynch, Redlegs, rapped a home run, triple and double in 7-1 victory over the Braves.

Tigers Fall, 14-0

Wrightstown — Winneconne High school topped Wrightstown, 14-0, Friday afternoon for its second straight Little Nine conference football victory.

The game was only three minutes old when the visitors recovered a Wrightstown fumble on the Tiger 30. Doug Kern scored from there moments later on a neat run.

In the final two minutes, the Wolves scored the insurance TD on a 15-yard pass to Freund.

Wrightstown had a slight unofficial total yardage edge — 196 to 189 — and an 8 to 6 bulge in first downs. The Tigers gained 186 of their yards on the ground, with Curtis Meulemans and Dick Menezzi doing the heavy work. In the second quarter, the Tigers were stopped on the Wolves 4-yard line. The alert Wolves also recovered five of six fumbles and intercepted two passes.

Winneconne gained all but 69 of its yards through the air.

Omro Spills Chiefs

Omro — The Omro High school football team whipped Shiocton, 34-0, Friday night.

Jim Michaels scored twice (30 and 7-yard runs) for the Foxes who swept to a 20-0 halftime lead. T. W. Ellis and Dave Alto uncorked scoring runs of 35 yards and eight yards, respectively. Eddie Pollex ran back an interception 40 yards for a TD.

The strong Omro defense held the Chiefs to an unofficial total yardage of 43.

You're the Skipper How to Make Best Use of Spring Lines

BY JOHN BOHANNAN

Too many boatmen fail to make the best use of lines. They can help you get in to a dock, or get away from it. This is especially true of single screw inboard motorboats of all sizes.

Let's suppose you are trying to dock in a narrow channel. The wind is aft, but you don't have room enough to round up. Just to make things worse, let's assume that there's only space for one boat alongside the dock, and that there's not much clearance ahead or astern.

Get a long bow line ashore, and make it fast on the dock at about the place you wish the stern to swing in. Go forward on your engine, putting a strain on the line and turning the rudder away from the dock. The stern will gradually swing in, bringing the hull parallel to the dock. This is one of the many uses of an after bow spring line.

Forced Against Wind

After you have made fast your other lines and have spent the night at this spot, you wake up to find the wind has shifted and is blowing you against the dock, making it difficult to get under way with other boats so close.

Cast off all lines except the after-bow spring line. Go forward on the engine with the rudder set toward the dock this time. As a strain is put on the line, the stern will be forced out against the wind. As the stern moves out, have someone stand by with a fender or boathook to keep the bow from being damaged by the dock.

When the stern is in the clear, cast off the spring line, put the gear in reverse and you'll soon be out where you can maneuver easily.

A forward quarter spring line is a handy gimmick for getting under way when the wind is from dead ahead. This is a line led from the quarter to a point on the dock opposite the bow.

Go Into Reverse

Cast off all other lines and go into reverse. The bow will swing out, and the turning will be accentuated as the wind (or current) starts acting against the hull. Have someone on the stern with fender or boathook to guard against damage. When the bow is in the clear, cast off the spring line and go ahead on your engine.

Under sail alone, the same maneuver is accomplished by backing the jib until the bow falls off with the wind, using the forward quarter spring line to check sternway until the sails fill and the craft begins to make headway.

If you don't have someone helping you on the dock, or there isn't any member of your crew spry enough to leap aboard at the last second, lead the spring line around the dock cleat, bollard or piling and back to a round turn around the same bits, casting off the hand-held end when the spring line is no longer needed and hauling it aboard quickly from the other end.

Algoma Tops Seymour in NEW Opener

Algoma — The Algoma High school football team used a balanced offense to defeat Seymour, 25-0, in a North-eastern Wisconsin conference opener Friday night.

Fullback Kenny Van Lanen ran three and 31 yards for touchdowns. The others were added by Randy Gomoll on a 23-yard run and Jack Neubauer on a 15-yard pass play.

Algoma, which scored once in each quarter, outgained the Indians, 286 yards (178 of them by rushing) to 119, and had a 12-5 first down edge.

An interception terminated Seymour's only serious threat on the Algoma 15 in the final quarter. "Red" Heuser was Seymour's best ground gainer, while Lynn Prellip did an especially good defensive job.

The loss evened Seymour's overall record at 1-1.

Group Studies Major League Potential of Fort Worth-Dallas

Dallas — Dallas has been talking about major league baseball for several years but not until now has a concrete move been made. This one is only in the exploratory stage at that.

The late Dick Burnett, who owned the Dallas club in the Texas league, started the talk as far back as 1948. And in 1954 he offered to put up a quarter of a million dollars and get others to do the same.

The others wouldn't come through.

No Agitation

Burnett died in 1955 and there was no further agitation until this year when Fort Worth, a city 30 miles to the west, suggested an alliance with Dallas in obtaining a stadium suitable for major league baseball. It would be built between the two cities and the cost would be borne by revenue bonds on which there would be an election.

Talk turned up all over the place. But backers of the project decided to first feel the pulse of the people through a survey to determine the potential of major league baseball in the area.

Until that survey is completed—in about mid-November—there will be nothing done. If the survey is favorable, the stadium project will be launched.

The stadium probably would be located at Arlington, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Neither Dallas nor Fort Worth has a suitable baseball park for a major league franchise.

Rough Skidding

Dallas and Fort Worth long have been members of the Texas league, a class AA circuit that has encountered, until this year when Fort Worth, a city 30 miles to the west, suggested an alliance with Dallas in obtaining a stadium suitable for major league baseball. It would be built between the two cities and the cost would be borne by revenue bonds on which there would be an election.

Talk turned up all over the place. But backers of the project decided to first feel the pulse of the people through a survey to determine the potential of major league baseball in the area.

League President Dick Butler attributes the low attendance to the fact that Dallas hadn't until recently been able to get into the first division, plus the fact that major league baseball is brought to the area via television.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(1) Is it all right to fasten the stern and bow cleats with screws? Never trust screws on these fittings. They should be fastened with bolts in such manner that they are tied into the framing.

(2) How long should I cut the dock lines, for my 29-foot sea skiff? About 25 feet would be a handy size. Always remember to lead your bow line as far forward on the dock as possible, and the stern line as far aft as you can. Long lines minimize the slack required to allow for the rise and fall of the tide.

NAUTICAL JIVE

FALL OFF—The bow of a sailboat is said to "fall off" when it swings down wind.

QUARTER—The after part of a boat's side.

CLEAR—A fitting used for belaying lines.

BITS—Perpendicular deck fittings or through-deck posts for securing dock or anchor lines.

BOLTHED—A screw or bolt, wooden or metal post commonly used on docks for securing lines.

Yanks Lose as Dittmar Fails In Relief Role

Orioles Get 5 In 9th to Win; Bosox Blank Nats

By The Associated Press
Southpaw ace Whitey Ford has bounced back, but Art Dittmar—one of the second-line men who formed the third stage of the pennant rocket—suddenly has flamed out as the New York Yankees line up their pitching for the World Series.

Ford, making his second appearance after a 2-week layoff because of arm trouble, threw shutout ball for seven innings last night, but when he was taken out as a precautionary measure, Dittmar came on and Baltimore made off with a 5-4 victory.

Safely Through 8th
Dittmar (9-8) got safely through the eighth inning, but the ninth was a 5-run mess capped by ex-Yankee Gene Woodling's pinch, 2-run single off Ryne Duren.

Dittmar, who had helped take up the slack when injuries hit the Yankee staff in midseason, hasn't won in a month. He's lost four in that span, giving up 18 earned runs and 31 hits in 22 innings over eight games.

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City spilled the Chicago White Sox, 7-6, and Cleveland defeated Detroit, 2-1. Boston had only four hits, but beat Washington, 2-0. Pete Runnels had two of the hits, pushing his leading bat average to .321. Teammate Ted Williams was hitless and skidded into a tie for second with Harvey Kuenn of Detroit at .316.

A two-out error by fielding Nellie Fox gave the A's the tie-breaking run in the ninth.

The Indians had but four hits off Paul Foytack (13-13), counting the clincher in the eighth on a walk, sacrifice and Larry Doby's two-strike single. Cal McLish (16-7) won it.

Camilo Pascual (8-11) allowed only four hits, but gave the Red Sox a third inning run with his own interference error in a rundown between third and home. Tom Brewer (12-11) gave up five hits for his first shutout since May 22, 1957, and Boston's first since Memorial day.

Daring Young Driver
Nassau — Ricardo Rodriguez, daring 16-year-old driver from Mexico City who won Class F honors last year, will be back for the fifth annual international sports car classic here Nov. 30-Dec. 8.

Frank Schmieder Rolls 598 Trio In Grocers' Loop

Frank Schmieder polished off a 598 triple for Wisconsin Distributing to pace Grocers' league bowlers at the Elks club Thursday night. Allan Laux whacked a 231 game for WAPL and wound up with a 563.

Other honor scores were posted by: Chet Christen (563) and Ed Flood (568).

Oddsmakers Pick U. S. to Keep Cup

Eisenhowers Among Spectators for Opening Race
Newport, R. I.—There's one thing, at least, America and Great Britain seem to agree on. Neither is saying who will win the America's cup.

A waterfront poll of this crowded port brought detailed analysis or shrugs of "I'll tell you next week" but no one would stick his neck out to the question "Who'll win."

"That's always a question, isn't it?" said Lt. Cmdr. Graham Mann, skipper of the British challenger Sceptre.

Ike on Hand
"I don't know. You tell me," said Briggs Cunningham, who will sail the American defender, Columbia, into the best-of-7 race series starting today.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower are on hand to watch the race. They'll be aboard the new guided missile destroyer Mitscher. Other spectators will see the race from chartered ships and private yachts—all part of a flotilla of 1,500 craft.

Oddsmakers favor Columbia, 1-3.

Britain will be trying for the eighteenth time to win the "old mug," in American possession since it was first put up for competition in 1851.

Farmhands of 4 Clubs Will Play This Fall In Florida Program

New York — The Milwaukee Braves and three other major league clubs Thursday completed plans for a Florida winter instruction program for minor league hopefuls.

The Braves, St. Louis, Kansas City and New York will open the camps at Bradenton, St. Petersburg and Tampa Oct. 15. The program will run through Dec. 15 with the four teams meeting in a series of games, but never more than six a week.

Each club will send 18 players to the camp sites. Only players with not more than three years professional experience and with classifications not higher than B are eligible to attend.

Scout Bob Coleman will be in charge of the Milwaukee camp, assisted by Al Monchak, manager of Cedar Rapids in the Three-I league, and Bill Steinecke, manager of the McCook club in the Nebraska State league.

This is the Brain Trust of the Columbia which defends its America's cup, in a series starting today, against Britain's challenger Sceptre. Left to right are: skipper Briggs Cunningham, also a famed sport car racer; Olin Stephens, designer; Cornelius Shields, Sr., alternate helmsman; Henry Sears, navigator and head of the building syndicate of the Columbia, and Ron Stephens—brother of Olin—sail and rigging expert.

King Passes Fondy '11' To Win Over Terrors

Friday, holding the Terrors to just 79 yards rushing. A couple key Terrors—tackle Bob Thomas and quarterback Joe Nussbaum—were helped off the field after abrupt contact with their hosts.

Thomas re-irritated a bruised rib while Nussbaum suffered an injury to his left thigh.

Roemer Hurt
Halfback Bob Roemer, the leading light in Appleton's 12-0 opening win over Menasha, was playing on a sprained ankle and carried the ball just three times from scrimmage, losing two yards.

Fullback Joe Eich—one of the leading ball-carriers in the FRVC last season who has yet to play on offense in 1958—turned in a sound defensive job. He seemingly got through the game without re-injuring his question-mark knee.

Substitute fullback Cal ers to the camp sites. Only players with not more than three years professional experience and with classifications not higher than B are eligible to attend.

Scout Bob Coleman will be in charge of the Milwaukee camp, assisted by Al Monchak, manager of Cedar Rapids in the Three-I league, and Bill Steinecke, manager of the McCook club in the Nebraska State league.

After an exchange of punts in the first quarter, the Cardinals took over on the Terror 13-yard line. A couple of line plays gained just three yards and then King found McArthur, all-conference as the junior last season, deep in the end zone with a blooping pass 7-0 lead midway through the second quarter.

The Raiders were unable to gain after the subsequent point and it was 7-0 Fondy kickoff, a clipping penalty with 2:05 to go in the first quarter.

Tough Cardinal defending and King's punts kept the Terror out of threatening territory during the remainder of the half. The winners got to the Terror 25 late in the second quarter but Nussbaum intercepted a King aerial on the AHS 8 to end the march.

The losers opened the second half like they meant business but a fumble on a pitch-out play on the Cardinal 17 spoiled a lengthy Terror drive.

Another King Punt
Another King punt got the Terrors on the attack deep in their own territory early in the final period and led to the second Cardinal TD. Taking over on their own 8, the losers were unable to move and Henning kicked out to the AHS 27.

The hosts ground down to the 10 where King floated a picture toss to McArthur on fourth period, going eight, the far left side of the end zone and out of reach of Appleton defender Henning.

Sturm's conversion try fizzed off his foot.

The Investor

Keep Some Ready Cash on Hand, Not All Stock, Widow Advised

BY WILLIAM A. DOYLE
Q. I am a 65-year-old widow. I have a small pension and a net income of about $4,000 a year from real estate. I have $20,000 invested in mutual funds, a reasonable health insurance policy and a small life insurance policy.

You have said, in your column, that everyone should have a substantial reserve of cash. Do you think I should stop investing in mutual funds and accumulate some government bonds and savings?

A. Stop entirely? No. But, cut back on such investing until you have an adequate cushion.

Not Guaranteed
There is no hard and fast rule on how big a reserve any person or family should have. Perhaps you can get along with a smaller one than most people—because of your steady income from non-pension and real estate.

Even through the pension money is assured, the income from real estate holdings can't be counted as guaranteed. You should have a big enough reserve to carry you through if that source of money is cut off for a while.

And you should have enough additional reserve to back up that "reasonable" health insurance in case of a serious, and/or long illness.

You're showing good sense in considering government bonds. U.S. savings bonds may not offer the greatest income in the world, but they are even better than money in the bank as far as safety is concerned. Just be sure to keep part of your reserve in a checking account to meet bills when necessary.

Q. I own some stock which I would like to sell, at a profit. Since I am on social security and do not pay any tax on the dividends from my stocks, would I have to pay a tax on the profit I realize when I sell?

A. You most certainly would. You would owe the government a capital gains tax. But, since you don't have to pay income taxes on your social security benefits and if you have no other source of taxable income, the effective tax rate that would apply to you would be pretty low.

Spread Profit
I'm assuming that you're not going to sell a bundle of stocks and make a huge profit. If you are that fortunate and don't need the money fast, the smart thing to do would be to spread your profit—taking over several years. That way you would have to pay in each year.

There's one thing that worries me about your letter. You say you don't pay taxes on your dividends. The pay-out on some investments is tax free. But these aren't too widespread. Most dividends are taxable as ordinary income—whether you are on social security or not.

There is a limited exemption. A single person doesn't have to pay taxes on the first $50 in dividends he or she receives in each tax year. For married couples filing joint returns, the exemption is $100. Everything above and beyond that is taxable.

Better Check
You had better check. It may be that you have been fracturing the income tax laws without realizing it.

Q. I recently made my first venture into the stock market by buying 50 shares of Pacific Gas and Electric and 50 shares of International Telephone and Telegraph. I still have butterflies in my stomach every time I think about it. Have I done properly?

A. Rest easy. You have made a good start toward a sensible investment program. Pacific Gas and Electric is a well established investment grade security. It should give you protection, assured income and gradual growth. I T and T, while in joining the circuit may contact him at 211 State street, Neenah.

Marion High Gridders Tip Wautoma, 6-0

Marion — Scoring the first time they owned the ball, the Marion High school Pigeons defeated Wautoma, 6-0, in a game played entirely in two rivers territory without a serious threat.

The Pigeons made a goal-line stand in the fourth period to protect their slender lead. Wautoma had two chances to put it over from the Marion 1-yard line, but the battling Pigeons held.

Halfback Jim Grimm scored the touchdown from the 1 at the end of a 55-yard drive. The longest gain in the scoring journey was a 10-yarder by halfback Lee Brazile. Wautoma stopped the Pigeons inside its 10-yard line just before the end of the half.

Bassey Rules 8-5 Favorite Over Pep Tonight

Boston — Featherweight champion Hogan Bassey rules an 8-5 favorite to shatter the dreams of 2-time former ruler Willie Pep tonight in a non-title 10-round pitting youth and power against experience and skill.

The 26-year-old champion from Nigeria places little on the line except prestige, while Pep has his ring future at stake in the non-televized bout at the Boston garden.

Pep, who observed his thirty-sixth birthday Friday, finds himself at the crossroads of an 18-year pro career while striving to become the first featherweight to win the crown three times.

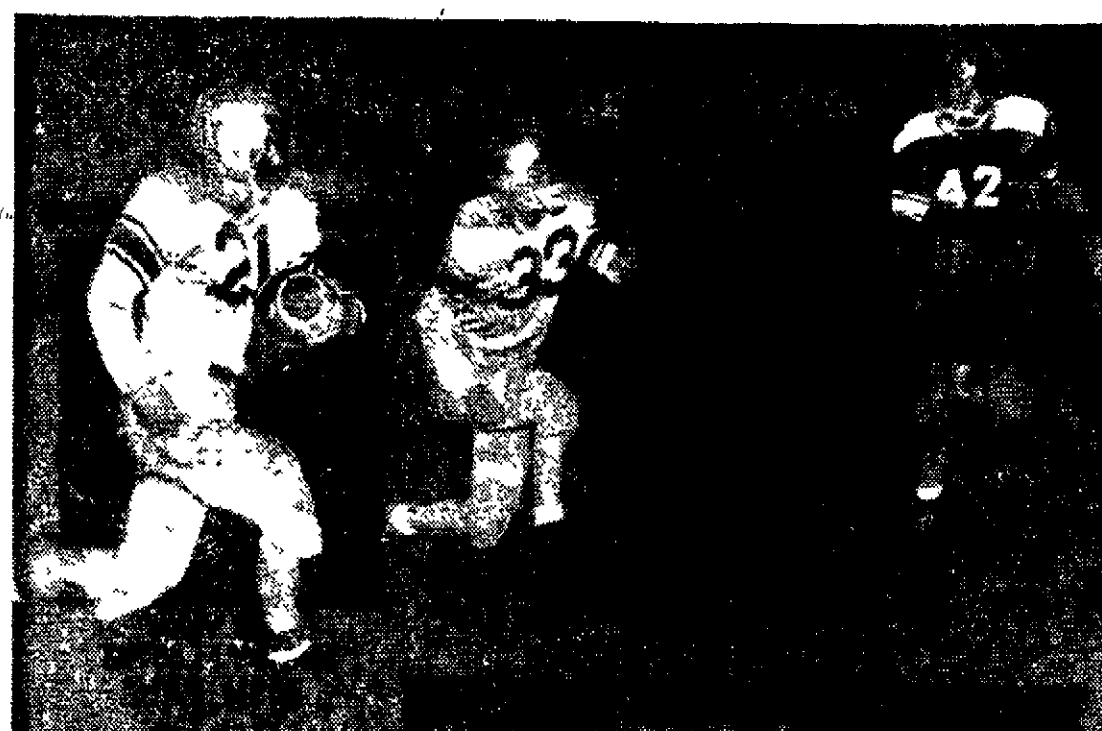

Bassey, winner of eight straight and 21 of his last 22, is confident in facing one of his boyhood idols, but refused to make any predictions. Others in his camp expect an easy fight.

Pep has a record of 219-8-1 since he joined the fight-for-pay ranks as a teen ager. His victory total is only three less than the all-time record held by former feather champion Freddie Miller.

Hawkeyes End 2-a-Day Drills; MSU's Wulff Re-Injures Leg

By the Associated Press
ILLINOIS—Coach Ray Elot tried guard Bob Lanzotie at fullback in an attempt to bolster his defense for the UCLA opener. The Illini line-backing corps is not expected to be at full strength because of injuries.

IOWA — The Hawkeyes put an end to two-a-day drills and tapered off for their season opener against Texas Christian. The reserves ran TCU plays against the No. 1 and 2 teams.

MICHIGAN STATE — The Spartans worked on stopping split-T plays which California is expected to use in the season opener next week. Jim Wulff, defensive senior halfback from Chicago, is out of the line-up with a re-injury of a leg muscle.

OHIO STATE — The Buckeyes stressed offense in a 2-hour drill. Quarterbacks Frank Cremlas and Jerry Fields threw passes extensively leading observers to think the Buckeyes might supplement their strong ground game with aerials.

INDIANA — Guard Don Noone will miss the season opener against Notre Dame. Noone is suffering with a knee injury. Sophomore Bill Kid, 1181, Manila, technical Kerr is taking over Noone's draw, 2:08 of 2nd Kid suffered eye cut.

Manila — Walt Ingram, 119, Weirton, W. Va., and Danny Kerr is taking over Noone's draw, 2:08 of 2nd Kid suffered eye cut.

Yanks Run Out of Box, Reserved Seats
New York — The New York Yankees will accept no more orders for World Series box and reserved seats, ticket chief Jack White announced. They already have more orders than they can fill.

Still available are standing room tickets for each game at $4.20 apiece, which may be purchased by mail or over the counter at the Yankee stadium. Any remaining standing room and all 14,000 bleacher seats will be put on sale the day of each game at the stadium.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Paralyzed at the Height of his missionary career in China, Bishop Samuel Schereschewsky with the loving care of his wife went on to do the most important work of his life. Suffering sunstroke at 50, he lost the use of his arms and legs. Yet, with one usable, calloused finger, or grasping a stick, he typed a translation of the Bible into Chinese, working eight hours a day, every day, for eight years, believing "God had called me to it and had especially prepared and fitted me for it."

POST CRESCENT News of the Twin Cities Neenah - Menasha

Assessor Places $16.7 Million Value On Menasha Town

$628,000 Gain Over 1957;
$53,200 Taken Off Tax Roll

Menasha — Town of Menasha's assessed valuation for this year totals $16,697,970, according to Edwin P. Harold, town assessor. This is up $628,000 over last year and up about $2.8 million over two years ago.

The township lost $53,200 from its tax rolls this year through purchases of proper ty for the Highway 41 relocation. This includes $7,900 in land values and $45,300 in building values.

Residential land taken off the tax roll came to $5,200 and residential buildings to $25,400. Agricultural land of $1,700 and buildings of $15,900 and commercial land of $1,000 and buildings of $4,000 also were taken off, Harold pointed out.

This year's valuation shows $13,612,200 in real estate valuation and $3,075,770 in personal property up $10,810.

Residential Values
Residential valuation was placed at $4,787,500 this year, a gain of $73,700 in the land and $406,400 in the buildings. The residential land valuation is $857,800 and the buildings $3,929,700.

Agricultural land went down from $443,500 last year to $421,600 this year. Buildings also went down from $368,800 last year to $365,500 this year. The highway relocation and also because of the changing trend of the township to a more residential and industrial nature caused most of the drop.

Industrial land this year is valued at $48,800, up $11,200. Industrial buildings at $5,912,600, up $10,000. This makes the total industrial valuation of the township $5,962,400. Last year the industrial valuation climbed $1,127,400 as against the $21,200 this year.

Commercial valuation totaled $2,053,800, divided into $242,600 for the land and $1,811,200 for the buildings. This is $117,000 over last year's commercial valuation.

Former Neenah Youth Talks in Home Church

Guest Speakers to Occupy Pulpits of Several Parishes

Neenah — The Rev. David Wisthoff of Plainfield will preach in his home church, Whiting Memorial Baptist church, in an exchange of pulpits Sunday with the Rev. K. Aart Van Dam, pastor of the Neenah church.

The Rev. Mr. Wisthoff is a Neenah High school graduate and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wisthoff, live at 778 S. Commercial street. He serves a 3-church parish including Baptist churches at Almond, Bancroft and Plainfield. The Rev. Mr. Van Dam will preach in his place Sunday at Almond and Plainfield.

The former Neenah youth was in the news recently when he and other Plainfield pastors sought to keep the possessions of Ed Gein from being auctioned on a Sunday.

A guest speaker also will occupy the pulpit of St. Thomas Episcopal church at its 9:15 family eucharist service. Speaking at that service will be Dr. Dora P. Chaplin of New York City, an authority on Christian education, who will speak to a northeastern Wisconsin Episcopal church school teachers meeting here at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Youth Sunday
Youth Sunday will be observed by St. Mark's Lutheran church Sunday morning when the young people take part in the 9:30 worship service. Ronald Fuss and Larry Rymmer, high school students, will share the preaching responsibilities on the theme "Purse Partners." The scripture lesson will be read by Roberta Erdmann and Ronald Reichel while Miss Elizabeth Rosenthal will be vocal soloist.

Ushers will be James and Thomas Forrest, Richard Collins and Robert Sugden.

Annual meeting of Our Savior's Lutheran church will be held at 7:45 Tuesday night.

Joseph Lewandowski, a member of the parish, will speak at the 9 o'clock and 10:30 worship services of St. Timothy Lutheran church Sunday in observance of Youth Sunday.

Childs, Gavin

Two Books of Immediate Interest New at Library

Neenah — Two books of immediate interest have been added to the selections available at the Neenah Public Library.

They are "Eisenhower: Captive Hero" by Marquis Childs and "War and Peace in the Space Age" by James M. Gavin.

Childs, Washington columnist and special correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, examines the history and fishermen, as well as personality of the man who emerged from World War I as its triumphant hero and was ushered into the White House. Eisenhower, from 1922 to 1936, is another Children's claim, is the captive new addition. Couzens was a man of those who made him hero millionaire who drew the wrath of most other millionaires and most other public officials during his terms.

"War and Peace in the Space Age" is written by the former chief of army research and development, a large collection of writings who resigned from the service as a lieutenant general George E. Nelson and with last March after a disagreement with congress.

Gavin blames the nation's "missile lag" and second library has acquired "1,001 place position in the space Age" answered by 12 Experts. Editor of the volume is Helen Van Pelt Wilson.

Other new books this week include "The Battle of the North Atlantic" by Samuel Eliot Morison. The book is "Moody Investment Service" volume I of Morison's "His- es," a periodical for the money investor.

Station Wagon Life

The library has also added volume II of the "Ford Treasures" by Franklin M. Reck and William Moss. The book is an ideal handbook for vacationing families, hunters and fishermen, as well as a weekend trip.

Trinity Lutheran church of Neenah also will observe its annual mission festival at its 8:15 and 10:15 services. Prof. Loren Schaller of Fox Valley Lutheran High school at Appleton will be guest speaker. The church is resuming its winter schedule of hours Sunday.

Also returning to its winter schedule of hours Sunday is Martin Luther Evangelical Lutheran church which will have registration for Sunday

Candidate Urges Food Stamp Plan

Megellas, Pitz Speak at County Democrat Rally

Fremont — A plan to use surplus dairy products for poor relief was presented by James Megellas, Democratic candidate for the sixth congressional district, at a party rally in the Wolf river school Friday night.

Megellas urged a food stamp plan be adopted, noting that many children remain undernourished while the country continues to pile up food. "I cannot understand why we have $7 million in surplus food now stored in government warehouses, at a cost of over $1 million a day to the taxpayers instead of in the stomachs of dietary deficient Americans," the candidate said.

The candidate lashed out at Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and "his strong ally," Rep. William K. Van Pelt. Benson, Megellas claimed, is more concerned with food processors' profits than the farm income, and Van Pelt has strongly endorsed the secretary's farm program.

Herbert Pitz, who is campaigning for the state senate, said his opponent, Sen. William Draheim, voted three times in the last legislative session "to further flatten the thin pocketbook of the farmer."

Pitz said Draheim refused to vote against a general sales tax, refused to vote for a request to congress for higher dairy price supports, and voted for increased truck load limits.

Make Wise Use Of Space For Storing Linens

Oshkosh — Make the best use of your linen shelves whether they are too few, short, deep or far apart. Refolding and sorting is a start toward better use of the space you have. Sort out seldom used, reserve and guest supplies and place at the back of wide shelves or at the bottom of deep piles of linens.

Table cloths and other pieces can be refolded so they will be long, narrow and deep. Place the narrow end to the front of the shelf, so it can be easily picked up.

Roll small pieces such as doilies, dresser scarves and table mats on to tubes. They will fit into narrow spaces this way and stay free of wrinkles.

Half-shelves can be fitted into shelves that are deep, thus bringing the storage to the front. Little linens such as pillow cases, napkins and wash cloths will fit on a half-shelf just eight inches deep, says Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent.

Fold laundry smoothly and evenly as you feel it into the wringer as pieces are harder to iron if they go through in a lump. Hanging clothes straight on the line will also cut down the wrinkling.

TECHNOCRACY

TECHNOCRACY'S survey of the economic situation in America, and in the world, leads to the conclusion that there is in development a process of imminent and progressive social instability under Price System operation, with corresponding social disorder, that is threatening large portions of the people with decreasing purchasing power and, consequently, increasing hardship and deprivation. This will continue until the resultant instability will have exceeded the limits of social tolerance, and then there will have to be installed a social mechanism competent to meet the needs of the people of this continent. We are reaching that point.

Jays Edge Shawano In M-E Opener, 6-0

Robinson Scores in Second Period; MHS Limits Losers To 19 Yards Via Rushing

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Shawano — Menasha spent the greater part of Friday evening in Shawano territory

but could only generate one scoring drive in notching a 6-0 win in the conference opener for both clubs.

The Jays' attack looked sharp at times, particularly on its touchdown jaunt, but sputtered at others. The defense against Shawano's running game was excellent and the pass defense spotty as the Indians completed six of 14, including a couple of long ones. Other times the receivers were clear but couldn't catch up with the ball.

Menasha's defensive group limited Shawano to a net of a mere 19 yards on the ground and only three in the second half. The longest gain went for seven yards. Shawano only made three first downs all evening and all came via the aerial route.

Stepanski Nets 80
The Menasha running attack accounted for 172 of its net of 178 yards. Tom Stepanski accumulated 80 and Dave Robinson, who scored the lone touchdown, picked up 61. The Jays tried six passes and completed one for six yards. All of their nine first downs came on the ground.

Although they were in "Indian country" much of the time, aside from their scoring march, the Bluejays only threatened seriously once. That came late in the first period after Harold Kachur blocked a punt and Menasha took possession of the 25.

Attack Fizzles
The visitors got a yard on the first play and Robinson went to the four on a keeper on the second. Here the attack fizzled. The visitors were pushed back to the nine, got down to the two but were back on the five by the time their downs were used up.

The touchdown was scored with less than three minutes remaining in the half. The Jays took over on the Shawano 43 after a punt and scored two plays later in one of their sharper offensive displays of the night.

Stepanski scampered to the 28 on the first play and Robinson went the last 28 on a keeper on the next. He made a nice fake, found a big hole and went the rest of the way almost untouched. Dick Taves' point after touchdown try was partially blocked and didn't make it over the crossbar.

Robinson Intercepts
The Jays had to call on all of their defensive ability to stop a Shawano march early in the fourth quarter. The fun started when Harley Lyohs intercepted a Robinson pass, on the Shawano 30 and returned it 12 yards.

On play No. 1 Bill Krenger pitched to Ren Ketchenago and the latter moved all the way down to the Jay six before he was dragged down from behind by Dave Ristau, sophomore defensive half-back.

The Indians failed to gain through the middle on the first play and Krenger's pass was intercepted by Robinson on the two and returned to the nine to end the threat.

Bauer Runs Well
The Jays moved from the nine across midfield before the game ended. The jaunt, which netted four first downs, was highlighted by a couple of nice runs by Bill Bauer, who entered when Stepanski was shaken up. Bauer made 21 yards in his first two tries.

The Jays blocked one punt and partially blocked a couple of others. Shawano booted eight times and Menasha kicked four times and couldn't get a fifth away because of a bad snap from center.

Three Penalties
Only three penalties were called, a five-yard assessment on Menasha for backfield in motion and two 15-yarders on Shawano, all three in the first half. Neither team was charged with a fumble.

Sophomore fullback Bill Ritchie saw only defensive action for the Jays because of an injury and starting guard Paul Bechko didn't play at all because of a hand ailment.

The lineups:
Menasha — Ends—Kachur, Ristau, La Valle, Collins. Tackles—McAlon, Weber, Emerich, Suenowicz. Guards—Cook, Wmz. Center—Taves. Backs—Robinson, Stepanski, Sheets, Stump, Ritchie, Stenson, Bauer. Shawano — Ends—Dodge, Rouve, Frechette, Penas. Tackles—D. Beyer, J. Beyer, Drake. Guards—Teuten, Broth. Centers—Salzman, Hesse, Daebler. Backs—La Marche, Lyons, Krenger. Suenowicz, Dillenberger, Ketchenago, Pehl, Buith, Caldwell, Waukechon. Sauer.

Scoring by quarters:
Menasha 0 6 0 0—6
Shawano 0 0 0 0—0
Touchdown: Menasha, Robinson. Unofficial statistics: First downs 9 3; Yards rushing 172 19; Yards passing 6 118; Passes attempted 5 14; Passes completed 1 1; Passes Inter. by 0 0; Fumbles 1-5 2-30; Penalties 1-5 2-30.

Jay, Rocket JV Teams to Face 1st Opponents

Neenah Vies With Kimberly; Menasha Tackles Shawano

Menasha — The Neenah and Menasha junior varsity football squads will open their fall schedules against Mid-Eastern conference opponents Monday afternoon.

Neenah plays host to Kimberly while Menasha entertains Shawano. Both games will begin at 4 o'clock.

The Rockets go into Monday's encounter with a record of four straight unbeaten seasons. Last year's squad won four games to boost the undefeated skein to 20.

The Neenah squad, again coached by Don Bartlett, will be made up of sophomores and juniors who see little or no action in today's game against Kimberly. Last year the Neenah reserves chalked up an 18-0 win over the Parkmakers.

Menasha won one of four games last year. It was tumbled 34-6 by Shawano as the Indians took to the air to score most of their touchdowns on long passes.

Last year's undermanned Menasha squad had only about 15 or 16 players. It is expected to have several more this season. Leo Kenney handles the Bluejays in their JV-level tests.

Zephyrs Bow To Kaukauna

Drop 20-13 Test; Koehler, Simon Tally for Losers

Menasha — St. Mary's Grade school eleven dropped a 20-13 test to St. Mary of Kaukauna in its Catholic league opener Friday afternoon at Kaukauna.

Using the pass as the big weapon, Kaukauna scored the first touchdown and made the ball all the way down the field after the next kickoff with Jim Koehler scoring after Dick Jensen brought the ball within a couple of inches of the goal. They missed the extra point.

Another pass just before the first half ended gave the winners a 1-6 halftime advantage.

Both coaches inserted their second stringers in the final quarter and Kaukauna scored first for a 20-6 lead. The Zephyrs came back to tally on a 13-yard run by Tom Simon. "Chuck" Hoernke made the extra point.

St. John	W	L	TP	OP
St. John	4	0	82	12
St. Mary	3	1	58	19
St. Norbert	2	2	77	72
Springs	1	3	27	64
Lourdes	0	4	12	59

Tonight's Game
St. Norbert at Springs.

Menasha — Fox Valley Catholic conference teams haven't played any league games as yet but followers of the circuit are already looking ahead to Oct. 5 when St. Mary and Little Chute St. John collide at Little Chute.

Conference play officially opens tonight when St. Norbert plays at Fond du Lac Springs but the other teams topped a good Kimberly eleven. Lourdes lost to Stephen-son, Mich., Springs bowed to Wausau Newman and tied Wayland academy and St. Norbert beat Wisconsin Rapids Assumption 19-12 a team it whipped by four touchdowns last year, and lost to Surgeon Bay.

Green Bay Premontre again will play an independent schedule. It dropped out of the football picture in 1949 after dominating play for five years.

The Cadets will face St. Norbert and St. John during their six-game schedule. They whipped West Green Bay in their first start.

All of last year's coaches are back. St. John's Bill Fitzpatrick is beginning his eighth season. Other tenures include Lou Yugovich, Springs, his sixth; Gene Miller, Lourdes, third and Vince Ste. Marie, St. Mary, and Pat Wright, St. Norbert, second.

All-conference returnees include Joe Poppe, St. John tackle; Roger Driessen, St. John guard; Keith Versteeg, St. John center, Don Hermesen, St. John quarterback, Tim Tousey, St. John half-back and Tom Balthazor, St. Mary fullback.

All-league graduates were Jim Schueppert, St. Mary, and Jerry Klistler, St. Norbert ends; Bruce Strumbras, tackle, and Tom Balthazor, guard, Springs, and Dennis Zapp, St. Mary halfback.

Second team returnees include Tom Makofski, St. Mary tackle; Lou Andrew, Springs center; Gary Bailey, St. Mary quarterback; Tom Shuler, St. John halfback; Claire McQuestion, St. Norbert, halfback and Don Dahlke, St. Norbert fullback.

A summary of the teams follows:

ST. JOHN — Lettermen in addition to the all-league choices are Jerome Vandenberg, Hogen and Clyde Schepp, well stocked with returnees, but it failed to win a game last year. Springs has a dozen monogram winners but has been bothered by injuries and could give the leaders trouble.

In the first two weeks of non-league play, St. Mary up-ended Milwaukee Don Bosco and De Pere and St. John ST. MARY — Lettermen are Bob Vandenhuevel and Joe Rechner ends; Tom Makofski and Fran Voissom, tackles; Dave Huhn, John Theis and Don Minskis guards; George Wiegand, center, and Bailey, Ed Lotzer, Norm Brown and Balthazor, backs. Graduation losses were Zapp, Schueppert, guard John McGinnis and center Dick Timmers. The St. John game will open FVCC competition for the Zephyrs.

ST. NORBERT — The Squires only have five lettermen, four of them backs. McQuestion, Dahlke, Tom Vandelo and Dave Rhoades, starter at quarterback as a freshman last year, are the MARINETTE CATHOLIC — Returnees are Steve Bell, Bill Harper, Mike Brabender, Jim Dorn, Geoffrey Meyer and Bob Zylkowski, linemen, and Pat Bradley, Ken Johnson, Jim Kopish, Bob Pecotte, Dan Szymik and Ron Parks, backs. Graduation losses were tight since last year's squad was made up almost entirely of underclassmen. The Shamrocks begin league play Oct. 5 at Springs.

The schedule:

Boy Placed in Farm Home for Burglary Attempt

A 16-year-old Appleton boy, who dropped into the waiting arms of police during a burglary attempt Sept. 5, Friday was placed under supervision of the Outagamie county welfare department for two years. The youth will be placed in a farm home in Calumet county.

The boy entered the Joseph company department store at 525 N. Clark street by climbing up and crawling through an open window. Police, who knew about the attempt, were waiting for him. A 15-year-old, also in on the attempted burglary, has not been sentenced.

Misplaced Flat Iron Starts Fire

A heated flat iron, left on a floor overnight, finally set fire to the floor, a carpet and a bed at Mrs. Mathilda Forster's home, 613 N. Tonka street, Friday.

The iron was left on the floor Thursday night by a woman with whom she shares her home, Mrs. Forster said, but had not produced any noticeable results Friday morning when the women went to work.

Mrs. Forster discovered the fire upon returning from work at 4:30 Friday afternoon and called firemen.

Fire had eaten a hole the size of a basketball in the floor, she said, and there was extensive damage to the carpet and bed, as well as smoke damage throughout the home.

Four Other Calls
Four other trouble calls were handled Friday by firemen.

There was an overheated motor in a combination washer-dryer at the Norman Bodway home, 408 E. Wisconsin avenue, about 2:35 in the afternoon.

A leak in a gas line at the John Dwyer home, 321 E. Brewster street, was discovered about 10 o'clock in the morning and the gas shut off.

A meat grinder started smoke at the Clarence A. Christen home, 1700 N. Erb street, about 9:46 in the morning.

Rubbish which Joseph Schiltz, 49 Weimar court, set afire on a vacant lot across the street from his home in turn set fire to deep-seated rubbish in the fill about 6:20 at night.

Apprenton YMCA Representatives to Attend Dedication

Representatives of the Appleton YMCA will attend the dedication of the new Southwoods County YMCA at Port Edwards Sunday.

Among those attending will be Mr. and Mrs. William Cherkasky, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Orblison, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paschen, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook.

The $1,500,000 building was donated by the Nekeosa-Edwards Foundation.

Footings for the First Construction stage of the multi-million-dollar H. C. Prange company department store are readied at the bottom of the huge hole shown here from atop a College avenue building looking toward N. Appleton street. General construction for the new building alone is estimated to cost in excess of $3 million.

Today's Deaths

Thomas A. Karavakis

Thomas A. Karavakis, 75, 519 S. Main street, Waupaca, died at 12:30 Friday morning in Waupaca after a short illness.

He was born Jan. 4, 1883, in Greece and came to Waupaca with his wife in 1924. He was a partner in the Waupaca Candy Kitchen until he retired in 1952.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 Monday afternoon at St. Mark Episcopal church, Waupaca, with the Rev. Gust Kapoyiannes, pastor of Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox church, Fond du Lac, and the Rev. Emmanuel Virges, Milwaukee, in charge. Burial will be in Lakeside cemetery, Waupaca. Friends may call at Holly Friends home, Waupaca, after 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Karavakis is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Sam Christy, Kenosha; two sons, Thomas, Waupaca, and John, Chicago; one sister, Mrs. Penelope Saranages, Greece; and four grandchildren.

Max G. Schellong

Max G. Schellong, 75, died at his Weyauwega home Friday morning of a heart ailment. He was an active painter and was engaged at his trade before death.

He was born July 12, 1883, in Milwaukee. His family moved to Weyauwega when he was two years old and he lived there the rest of his life.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Weyauwega, with burial in the Oakwood cemetery, Weyauwega. Friends may call at the Harrigan Funeral home, Weyauwega, from 7:30 tonight until 10:30 Monday morning and then at the church.

He is survived by one son, Robert, Weyauwega; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Marcellus J. Keller

Marcellus J. Keller, 73, a former Chilton resident who lived in the Plymouth area for many years, died in Chilton Thursday evening after a short illness.

He was born Jan. 6, 1885, and was a member of the Knights of Columbus and Holy Name society.

Funeral services will be at St. John the Baptist Catholic church, Plymouth, at 10 o'clock Monday morning, with burial in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the Rader Funeral home, Elkhart Lake, from Sunday morning until time of the funeral. The rosary will be recited at the funeral home at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Al Koplin, Milwaukee; a sister, Mrs. Tilla Sebelien, Chilton; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Lydia Manser

Mrs. Lydia Manser, 76, 725 E. Washington street, died at 5:30 this morning at her home after a long illness. She lived in Appleton the last 60 years.

Funeral services will be at 3:30 Monday afternoon at the Wichman Funeral home, with burial in Riverside cemetery. The Rev. W. Ralph Taylor, Lutheran church, will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Wilke Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Paul Wilke, 59, Tampa, Fla., and formerly of Appleton, will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home, with burial in Riverside cemetery. The Rev. W. Ralph Taylor, Lutheran church, will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Around Home

Another bear scare has been reported at Royaltown. This time two high school girls, Carol Genske and Shirley Hutchinson, sighted a bruin near the Genske home. Royaltown residents are wondering if the fact the area seems to be the home of the Waupaca county honey queen each year has anything to do with attracting the honey-loving bears.

Utility Employees Discuss Policies At Iola Meeting
Iola — Wisconsin Power and Light company supervisory employees from the northern part of the Berlin district, and their wives, met company officials at the Iola office to discuss the utility's programs and policies.

Presidential assistant Earl Stoller, Madison, led the discussion. Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Hoffman and Mrs. Franklyn Radman of Iola, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Grab of Manawa, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Westly and Gifford Solem of Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Willard St. John and Mr. Mrs. Harold Chapman of Birnamwood, and Forrest Engel of Amherst.

Bakery Truck, Car Collide Near Freedom
A bakery truck and a car collided about 7:15 Friday morning at Highway 55 and County Trunk E near Freedom. Damage was estimated at $200 by county traffic police.

The truck, owned by Omar Baking company, Kaukauna, and driven by Luke J. Hietpas, 20 Hoover street, Little Chute, was going north on Highway 55. The car, going southwest on E, was driven by Julius Danforth, 60, Oneida.

Danforth told police he stopped at the stop sign and looked both ways before starting across the highway. He said he failed to see the truck in the fog.

Appleton Man Named Officer of Fraternity
John Long, Appleton, has been appointed associate chairman of the placement committee of the Delta Nu Alpha Transportation fraternity, Green Bay.

Long is traffic manager of the Harry H. Long Moving and Storage company.

Funeral home after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Survivors include one daughter, Miss Lucille Manser, Appleton; one son, Capt. Burton Manser, Norfolk, Va.; and two grandchildren.

New Provision Attached to GI Insurance

World war II and Korean conflict veterans who hold GI insurance may now attach a new type total disability income provision to their policy for a small additional premium cost, Francis D. Heesaker, Outagamie veterans service officer, says.

Under a new law, policyholders who become totally disabled before 60 will receive an income of $10 per month for each $1,000 of the GI policy, he reported. Previous maximum was $5 per month.

Payments under the clause begin after the total disability has existed for six consecutive months. No payment is made for disabilities incurred after 60.

Premium cost of the $10 provision varies according to policyholder's age, type of policy and its face amount. A 40-year-old veteran with a $10,000 policy would pay $1.60 per month for the rider. He would receive $100 per month if totally disabled.

LWV Will Hear Education Talk
Mrs. Audrey von der Mehden, Madison, will discuss "The Future of Higher Education in Wisconsin" when the League of Women Voters meets at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the YMCA women's lounge. She is joint staff project assistant of the coordinating committee for higher education in Wisconsin.

The meeting is open to the public.

Vocational School Has Openings in Many Homemaking Classes
There still are openings in many homemaking classes at the Appleton Vocational school, according to Miss Doris Keup, coordinator.

Adults may enroll in advanced clothing, tailoring, weaving, general crafts and advanced creative cookery classes, she said.

The advanced clothing class includes making dresses, shirts, slacks and suits. Foreign specialties will be featured in the cookery class.

AAL Names New Trustee, Director

William Theurer, John Fleischli, Will Take Posts

A new director and trustee have been named by the Aid Association for Lutherans board of directors to replace Henry Kahnert, St. Paul, Minn., who died earlier this year.

William P. Theurer, Winona, vice president and senior trust officer of Winona National and Savings bank, has been named a director. John A. Fleischli, St. Louis, Mo., a director since January, 1952, has been named to the 4-man board of trustees.

Theurer, 44, is a graduate of Valparaiso university and the graduate school of Rutgers university school of banking with a major in trust administration. He is a director and treasurer of the Winona Chamber of Commerce and is serving his twelfth 1-year term as president of the Winona city council.

The new director is on the board of trustees of Winona General hospital, is a past president of AAL local Branch 133 of St. Martin Lutheran church and also is active in the Minnesota federation of AAL branches.

The 18-member board of directors meets three times each year and the board of trustees meets monthly in Appleton.

CAP Planes Join Search

Planes from the Appleton Civil Air Patrol squadron joined a search today for an Illinois airplane missing with its pilot since Monday.

CAP officials in Green Bay said the plane took off from Lombard, Ill., Monday and has not been heard from since. A search in Illinois earlier this week failed to turn up any sign of the missing aircraft. The plane had fuel for three hours. The pilot fled no flight plan.

Capt. Robert Neller, public information officer for the local CAP unit, said there are rumors the plane has been spotted in Illinois, but there was no confirmation.

Rural Menasha Man Hurt as Automobile Leaves Highway
Glen Kasten, 21, route 1, Menasha, received a leg injury when his car rolled over on County Trunk N about a mile south of Darboy at 2:30 this morning.

According to Calumet County Patrolman Irvin Vice, Kasten's car left the road and traveled 126 feet through a ditch, 42 feet in the air and rolled 119 feet before it hit a telephone pole.

Kasten was taken by Kimberly police to a Kimberly physician for treatment.

Two Women Clerks At Utschig's Not Eligible to Vote
Two women clerks in the Utschig Dairy retail store will not be eligible to vote in the union representative election within the next 30 days.

A story Friday chronically stated the Wisconsin Employment Relations board had ruled the women should be included. Actually, the WERB order pointed out the two clerks are paid by the hour and have no common interest with commissioned drivers.

Teamsters Local 563 sought the election.

New Medical Cartoon Will Start Monday

A factual approach to medical problems plus a pleasing presentation — that is the story of a new medical strip Dr. Guy Bennett, which will begin publication in the Appleton Post-Crescent Monday.

This strip is written by a famous doctor who, for professional reasons, must remain anonymous. He uses the pen name, Dr. B. C. Douglas. His wife, also a doctor, collaborates with him in preparing this strip.

They lay out each panel just as a series of movie sets would be designed on paper and submit the completed story to the syndicate for editing. It then goes to the artist who first pencils the strips and returns them to the doctor-authors to be checked for medical accuracy. They have already supplied the artist with photographs of technical material required.

The creator of Dr. Guy Bennett is a graduate of Dartmouth college and of the University of Pennsylvania Medical school where he also did graduate work. He is a member of many medical associations and is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Guy Bennett has been commended by leading medical men all over the world. Watch for it in Monday's paper.

Proceedings in Skenandore Case Nearing Climax

Madison — Proceedings in the removal action against Brown County Sheriff Artley Skenandore may be moving toward a climax.

John Potter of Wisconsin Rapids, special state counsel in the hearings on the Skenandore removal petition in Green Bay in August, has reported to Gov. Vernon W. Thomson's office that he has virtually completed his part of the case.

The next step is expected to be the formal presentation of the recommendations of Judge Herman Sachjen, Madison, who presided in the hearings.

Skenandore's removal was asked in a petition by Francis Leanna, a member of the Brown county board who complained the sheriff has been guilty of improper conduct.

Since the hearings, Skenandore easily won re-nomination in the Republican primary and Leanna lost a bid for nomination on the Democratic ticket for a seat in the state assembly.

Lawrence Says:
Rogers Tells
Only a Part
Of Court Story
Didn't Mention Ways
Citizens Can Seek Reversal of Decisions

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Atty. Gen. Rogers is an able and conscientious man, and he has just made a good speech on why he thinks citizens should obey court decrees. But, unfortunately, he told only a part of the story when, in his address Lawrence before the national citizenship conference here he said: "Of course, persons who disagree with decisions of the supreme court interpreting constitutional rights are free to seek change by the orderly process of constitutional amendment."

Others did not mention any other means of securing a reversal of a court decision or of mitigating its effects. But there are many other lawful ways, open to the citizen who disagrees with the supreme decision. It is unlawful to "interpret" the constitution. Here are some of them which do not require advocacy of any amendment to the constitution:

1. A citizen may petition his senator or representative to vote for legislation that will limit the powers and jurisdiction of the supreme court in certain types of cases. Such laws have been passed before by congress.
2. A citizen may petition members of congress to bring about the removal of justices who have not lived up to their oaths.
3. A citizen may join with other citizens in petitioning the members of his political party to nominate for the presidency a man who will pledge himself, if elected, to keep segregation through the leasing of school buildings to private corporations.
4. A citizen may petition his state legislature to enact laws that will avoid consequences of a supreme court decision. It is unlawful to evade income taxes but laws are full to avoid them. One can refrain, for instance, from making certain expenditures in one year and postpone them till another year when the individual or corporation might be subject to a lower tax rate.
5. A citizen may bring a suit that tests a new point, which was not specifically decided before. It is not unlawful to bring test cases. It is done right along by labor unions and by corporations, and they are not accused of "flouting" the law just because Learned Hand, retired, of New York, one of the ablest judges the members of the federal bench, who described the supreme court decisions in respect to segregation through the leasing of school buildings to private corporations, hit with mine, taking after me! may sometimes look for an excuse ers was making his speech at Washington. Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio, an eminent lawyer who was formerly attorney general and then governor of his state, made a speech about the supreme court before a meeting in Cleveland of the Sons of the American Revolution. He decried any attempts to "punish" the court, but he said "a number of reputable, qualified, and impartial constitutional lawyers have spoken out vigorously against usurpation of power by the supreme court." He mentioned especially the vote of the chief justices of 36 states who, in a formal report, recently criticized the present supreme court of the United States for having legislated rather than merely interpreted the laws and the constitution.

This came from a man who wasn't discussing the segregation cases at all but the many other usurpations of state rights. He quoted with approval the comment of Judge Learned Hand, retired, of New York, one of the ablest judges ever to sit on the federal bench, who described the supreme court decisions in respect to segregation through the leasing of school buildings to private corporations, hit with mine, taking after me! may sometimes look for an excuse

Mother Fears Child's Falls At Early Age Effect Memory

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: When my 17-year-old daughter was a child of two or three she had several falls. Could these have affected her physical, mental, and memory cells and stop her physical growth? First, she fell from the feet tall, weighs 115 pounds, kitchen stair—appears like a 15-year-old and way to the basement — age. — A.H.H.L.L."

Dr. Molner replies: Sectionally whether these little falls and falls at an early age would have any effect on her forehead that later dis-appeared. Third, a fall from I'm no oracle. Maybe some-thing to a concrete where in a medical literature floor, and a small cut above there is a case in which such the ear. This was X-rayed a thing did happen. But I and the doctor said she was haven't seen it.

Now as a senior in high school she complains as regularly as clockwork that she can't remember her without much damage. I've studies (history). She wants seen them slammed so hard to go to college but is afraid that they had brain concussions. Others have been drop-pings, hit with mine, taking after me! may sometimes look for an excuse every day living she is very alert and capable. I find her normal in every way, but scholastically she has poor report cards. Dr. Molner, did these head falls harm the memory cells and stop her physical growth. She is 5'2" tall, weighs 115 pounds, kitchen stair—appears like a 15-year-old and way to the basement — age. — A.H.H.L.L."

Naturally I can't say positively whether these little falls and falls at an early age would have any effect on her forehead that later dis-appeared. Third, a fall from I'm no oracle. Maybe some-thing to a concrete where in a medical literature floor, and a small cut above there is a case in which such the ear. This was X-rayed a thing did happen. But I and the doctor said she was haven't seen it.

Now as a senior in high school she complains as regularly as clockwork that she can't remember her without much damage. I've studies (history). She wants seen them slammed so hard to go to college but is afraid that they had brain concussions. Others have been drop-pings, hit with mine, taking after me! may sometimes look for an excuse tured skulls and have come for grades that are low simply because of lack of application. Lack of hard work! That children be encouraged. There have been times when youngsters pick up a thought or a phrase from parents or relatives — like a reference to falling and hitting the head — and subconscious-ly use these accidents as a cloak to hide behind.

At 5'2" feet and 115 pounds, and 17, she's of pretty good size. She may look younger, but she's big enough, and she sounds smart enough. But she may have a case of buck fever — just afraid she can't make the grade and is scaring herself into doing poor work in school. There may be a lesson in that. Don't hunt for things to worry about, because sometimes a child picks up the worry and subconsciously provides a problem to match the worry.
